“TO PRESERVE AND PROTECT”

A Short History of The Trustees

1891-1967

It was the end of the nineteenth century and the life that most New Englanders knew was the small town or the farm. The white, clapboard houses with their shading elms and maples — the big red barns, hayrakes and wagons still characterized the countryside, but times were changing.

From 1870 to 1900 the population of the United States would double, from 38 to 76 million, and more than one third of its people would live in cities. Another generation would see the end of the dirt road and the horse and buggy, and the arrival of the gasoline-powered automobile and a revolution in living which would sweep the country.

Boston was a part of this changing scene — the emergence of the urban era. Since the end of the Civil War, the city had grown into the nation's fourth largest manufacturing center. Ironworks, glass factories, foundries — hundreds of plants, large and small — sprang up, and the city spread out into the suburbs. Open space along the rivers and waterfront, and woodland areas disappeared as homes and industries used up the land.

With growing concern, a young landscape architect watched the land disappear. His name was Charles Eliot (1859-1897). Widely travelled and well educated—Eliot was the son of Charles W. Eliot, then President of Harvard University—he had seen and studied the public parks and gardens of Europe—London, Paris, Stockholm and Venice.

Open space, playgrounds, scenic vistas and historic sites, were a vital part of any community, but in Boston there seemed to be little thought of the future. Eliot acted quickly. In a letter published in March, 1890, he proposed an organization “empowered by the state to hold small and well-distributed parcels of land free of taxes, just as the Public Library holds books and the Art Museum pictures” It was to be called The Trustees of Public Reservations.*

To support his proposal, Eliot enlisted a distinguished group of citizens: Senator George F. Hoar, General Francis A. Walker, Professors N. S. Shaler and Charles S. Sargent, Philip A. Chase of Lynn, Frederick L. Ames of North Easton and Leverett Saltonstall of Newton (grandfather of just-retired U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Dover, who received The Trustees Conservation Award in 1962). These were the original incorporators. Dr. Henry P. Walcott, chairman of the State Board of Health, President Franklin Carter of Williams College and Augustus Hemenway of Canton were soon added to the board.

That next year, The Trustees, a private corporation, was established by Chapter 352 of the Acts of 1891 of the Massachusetts General Court for the "purpose of acquiring, holding, arranging, maintaining and opening to the public, under suitable regulations, beautiful and historical places and tracts of land within this Commonwealth."

In 1892, the new Trustees of Reservations and Charles Eliot acted again for preservation. They successfully urged the creation of a Metropolitan Park system, the first of its kind in the nation, which today is part of the responsibility of the Metropolitan District Commission. Eliot prepared the report which proposed the areas to be protected as park land.

Throughout their 76 years, The Trustees continued to play an active role in efforts to emphasize the need for open space and preservation. In the organization's first year it was commissioned by the General Court to make a study of the "Province Lands," then the largest state reservation, now a part of the Cape Cod National Seashore.

In 1924 and 1925 The Trustees again sponsored a movement for open space, this time on a state-wide basis. "The Governor's Committee on Needs and Uses of Open Spaces" was proposed by The Trustees, and appointed by Governor Alvin T. Fuller on November 1, 1927. The chairman was Charles S. Bird, Jr. of The Trustees of Reservations. Other Trustee members were Henry M. Channing, Herbert Parker and Charles W. Eliot, II, nephew of The Trustees' founder.

The committee inventoried existing open spaces and prepared the first State Plan for Open Spaces. It was published by The Trustees in 1927.

It was followed by a Landscape Survey in 1933 by the Boston Society of Landscape Architects which identified the best examples of different types of scenery in Massachusetts.

The efforts of The Trustees to follow up the recommendations of the Committee on Needs and Uses of Open Spaces helped establish active programs for State forests and parks in the Department of Natural Resources and contributed to the passage of the Bay Circuit Act (Chapter 63I Acts of 1956) to create an outer system of open spaces around Metropolitan Boston.

From the beginning, it has been the policy of The Trustees to encourage the acquisition and protection of open spaces by government agencies and other conservation organizations. In this way The Trustees contributed to the establishment of the Harvard Forest in Petersham, to Boxford State Forest, Nickerson State Park, Robinson State Park, Willowdale State Forest and Skinner State Forest, as well as to the preservation of Gore Place in Waltham.

Since 1891, there have been many other private trusts established, both in the United States and abroad, to preserve open space and historic sites for the enjoyment of future generations.

Some have been patterned directly on The Trustees. Perhaps the most famous is in England. In 1894, "The National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty" was created as an association. Its charter was in much the same language used by the Act establishing our own Trustees of Reservations.

The success of Britain's National Trust led to the National Trust Act, passed by Parliament in 1907. And 42 years later, to the "National Trust for Historic Preservation in the United States," chartered by Congress in 1949. The American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society in New York celebrated its 70th anniversary last year. In Maine, the Hancock County Trustees of Public Reservations also owe their existence, indirectly, to Charles Eliot. For even before he proposed the idea in Massachusetts, he called for the "organization of incorporated bodies to secure and maintain reservations for public use along the coast of Maine."

The Hancock County Trustees were established by Charles Eliot's father, President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, after his son's death. Their work led eventually to the creation of Acadia National Park on Mt. Desert Island. In 1898, the influence of The Trustees of Reservations also led to the founding of the American Outdoor Art Association, which later became the American Civic Association, the American Planning and Civic Association and most recently, Urban America, Inc.

The Old Manse reflects the quiet dignity of history.

Here in Massachusetts, other private associations and trusts joined the crusade to preserve open space as growing cities and towns spread out over the land. Today they include the Massachusetts Audubon Society, the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association, the Fund for the Preservation of Wild Life and Natural Areas, and at the local level, conservation trusts and village improvement societies.

When Charles Eliot died in 1897 at the age of 38, his accomplishments measured more than most men's do in a lifetime.

The day after his death, the Standing Committee of The Trustees of Reservations voted this tribute: "Charles Eliot found in this community a generous but helpless sentiment for the preservation of our historic and beautiful places. By ample knowledge, by intelligent perseverance, by eloquent teaching, he created organizations capable of accomplishing his great purposes, and inspired others with a zeal approaching his own."

Over the past three-quarters of a century, The Trustees of Reservations have been leaders in the field of preservation. Many thoughtful and generous citizens have taken advantage of the "ready and trustworthy instrument" which the Trustees provide, and have left their land to be preserved forever.

The first reservation was given to The Trustees in 1892. It was Virginia Wood, a tract of land in the Middlesex Fells, now administered by the Metropolitan District Commission as a part of the Middlesex Fells Reservation. Today, some 75 years later, The Trustees are custodians of 44 open space and historic areas, totaling some 10,000 acres, from the Berkshires to Cape Cod.

Eliot and the early Trustees saw the need for the conservation of natural resources 76 years ago. With the expansion of population and the growth of industry, that need has never been greater than it is today.

(Much of the material for this short history was contributed by Professor Charles W. Eliot II, nephew of The Trustees' founder and himself a landscape architect, former President of The Trustees of Reservations and a member of the faculty of Harvard University's School of Design.)

*The Trustees of Public Reservations was changed to The Trustees of Reservation by a vote of the Corporation on January 20, 1954. The name was changed by an Act of the General Court, February 4, 1954.

WILLIAM ROGER GREELEY

With the passing of William Roger Greeley on October 10, 1966, The Trustees of Reservations has lost a valued friend. Mr. Greeley devoted many years of his life to The Trustees as a member of the Standing Committee from 1929 to 1959, as Vice President from 1951 to 1956, and as President from 1957 to 1959. From 1959 until the time of his death, he served as a member of the Advisory Council. He will always be held in deep affection and respect for his loyalty and friendliness and for the high standards he has created for those who follow.

SEVENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING

The Seventy-sixth Annual Meeting of the Corporation was held in The Trustees of Reservations' headquarters at the Pierce House in Milton on Wednesday, January 25, 1967 at 2.30 p.m. with President Charles R. Strickland presiding.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

At the meeting of the Standing Committee on February 9, 1966, Laurence M. Channing was re-elected Chairman, and Robert P. Fitzgerald was welcomed as a new member of the Committee.

The year 1966, our 75th Anniversary year, will go down in the annals of The Trustees as one of the most active as well as one of great accomplishment. Our treasurer's report to you will reflect the increase in our resources. Of significant importance was the recognition by the United States Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, that contributions will qualify for the thirty percent deduction. We are most grateful for this increased financial stability, and most mindful of the increased responsibility to the public which it entails.

We acquired three very important new reservations. "Notchview", estate of the late Colonel Arthur D. Budd, in Windsor, containing about three thousand acres; Fork Factory Brook in Medfield, containing about sixty-two acres, the gift of Pliny Jewell, Jr. and his sister, Mrs. Barrett Williams, in memory of their parents; and Menemsha Hills in Chilmark, a gift from Nathaniel Harris and his sister, Catherine Harris, in memory of their parents, an interest in and the use of 149 acres on Vineyard Sound.

Mindful of our responsibilities of protecting reservations already under our stewardship, we are continually active in acquiring important in-holdings. During the past year, we have added the following: to Old Town Hill, in Newbury, a gift from Mrs. George A. Bushee of five acres; to Whitney Woods in Cohasset, twelve acres, a gift from Mrs. Kenneth Ketchum in memory of her husband; and to Cape Poge, on Chappaquiddick Island, an interest in fifty-six acres being a gift from Mrs. Seth Wakeman. Professor and Mrs. Charles W. Eliot made a gift to the Crane Reservation in Ipswich of easements on adjacent marsh land over an extensive area out to Castle Neck River. With these new acquisitions our total holdings now approximate ten thousand acres.

75TH ANNIVERSARY LUNCHEON

On Wednesday, August 25th, The Trustees held their 75th Anniversary Luncheon at "Naumkeag" in Stockbridge. Sincere thanks are due Mrs. Peter Malevsky-Malevitch and Mr. Charles E. Mason, Jr., co-chairmen of the Luncheon Committee, and to members of the Naumkeag Local Committee for arranging for this great occasion. We were delighted that about 325 members and friends from all sections of the state, and even visitors from out of state, were present to meet our honored guest, Lord Antrim, Chairman of the National Trust for England, Wales and Northern Ireland. President Charles R. Strickland presided at the luncheon meeting and presented Lord Antrim with a silver tray in commemoration of the 75th Anniversary.

RESERVATIONS MATTERS

The New England Conservatory of Music enjoyed its second year on our premises at Castle Hill in Ipswich for an eight-week session during the summer months. It was pleased to report a total of ninety-six students and hopes eventually to increase the enrollment to one hundred and twenty.

Last year we reported to you that the town of Stockbridge had taken by eminent domain twenty-four acres of our Naumkeag property for high school purposes. Now that a regional school for the towns of Stockbridge, West Stockbridge and Great Barrington is being erected across from Monument Mountain on Route 7, it no longer has a need for this property. We are pleased to report that the town of Stockbridge has voted to support the selectmen's recommendation that the property be returned to The Trustees.

The Old Manse in Concord and the Mission House in Stockbridge have been recognized by the Massachusetts Historical Commission as Historic Landmarks. At the Standing Committee meeting in October it was voted to file the necessary papers to have the Bryant Homestead in Cummington obtain similar recognition.

PUBLICITY

With the ever expanding activities in conservation matters and problems throughout the state, we have been lending our assistance in many areas. Mr. Bates and Professor Eliot are continuing their work with the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. Our Executive Secretary has been elected to the Board of Directors of the newly formed and exceedingly active Charles River Watershed Association. He has also travelled through all sections of the state giving again over fifty lectures to many diversified groups. Our 75th Anniversary Luncheon provided us with some excellent publicity, both in the press, on the radio and on television, and from magazines and newspapers in adjoining states.

As we look ahead to the coming years, we recognize that we are now in a position to increase both our services and effectiveness. We are continually searching out new properties for potential reservations that will enable people to get further enjoyment of these natural areas both in the present and in the years to come. Wherever possible, we attempt also to assist owners of desirable estates to place them with the agency most appropriate to the public interest involved.

We are saddened to report the deaths of the following members of the Corporation. Their interest in and loyalty to the Trustees will always be remembered with sincere appreciation:

W. A. BAZELEY, WM. ROGER GREELEY, CHRISTIAN A. HERTER, RICHARD C. PAINE and ARTHUR W. STEVENS.

During the year 1966, 56 associate and/or contributing members, six new life members and five new founders were enrolled.

During the year, vacancies on the Local Committees were filled by the Standing Committee. We wish to take this opportunity to thank the various Local Committee members for their support and interest during the past year. The various Local Committees and their members are listed in the Annual Report for 1966.

We wish to thank Roland B. Greeley, Arthur T. Lyman and Elliot L. Richardson, who are retiring from the Standing Committee this year, for their valuable assistance, and we are grateful to them for their willingness to serve on the Advisory Council.

The Standing Committee wishes to express its thanks to our many friends who have contributed their time and support to the work of the Trustees. Their continuing loyalty encourages us to look forward with confidence to the busy year ahead.

MEMBERSHIP

In 1891, The Trustees of Reservations were incorporated by the General Court of Massachusetts to preserve and protect places of natural beauty and historic interest within the Commonwealth.

The need for preservation existed then; today it is greater than ever before in history.

With the expansion of population and the growth of the economy, open space is rapidly disappearing. Planners estimate that, ideally, about 25 percent of the land in a community should be preserved. Most cities and towns today have set aside less than five percent of their shores and woodlands, wetlands, marshes and wildlife areas. If the quality of our environment is to be preserved the pace to acquire new lands must be accelerated. But no less important is the wise and efficient management of the open space areas now in existence.

In the past 76 years, The Trustees of Reservations have been leaders in the field of conservation. Many thoughtful and generous property owners have taken advantage of the "ready and trustworthy instrument" which The Trustees provide, and have left their land to be preserved forever.

Today, The Trustees of Reservations are custodians for 44 open space areas from the Berkshires to Cape Cod totaling nearly 10,000 acres. The organization receives no public funds. It relies for support on voluntary subscriptions, income from endowments and limited admission fees.

Contributions are needed to help carry on the work of the present and meet the challenge of the future.

Contributions to The Trustees of Reservations are deductible under Federal Income Tax Law.

SPECIAL INCOME TAX DEDUCTION LIMIT

Gifts to The Trustees of Reservations qualify for federal income tax deduction up to 30 percent of the donor's adjusted gross income (gross income less business expenses). The tax law establishes two categories of charitable organizations. Gifts to or for the use of one category (private foundations, certain fraternal organizations and similar bodies) are deductible only up to 20 percent of income, while gifts to the other (churches, schools, qualifying hospitals and publicly supported charities, including The Trustees of Reservations) qualify for application of the same 20 percent limit, but also qualify for an additional special 10 percent limit.

The two limits can be combined. For example, a contribution of 15 percent of income can be given to an ordinary charity, and another 15 percent to charities like The Trustees of Reservations, and the total of 30 percent is deductible.

An additional advantage is that if a gift is made to The Trustees of Reservations such as a gift of land, the value of which exceeds 30 percent of income, the excess portion can be carried over for the next five years or until it is sooner used up, as a gift qualifying for the 30 percent limit in each year. This may be of special interest to donors who would like to give land to The Trustees of Reservations but have hesitated to do so in the past because the value of the land exceeded the amount they could deduct in any one year.

FORM OF BEQUEST TO TRUSTEES

"I give and bequeath to The Trustees of Reservations, a Corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the sum of $. to be applied to the general uses and purposes of said Organization."

LAURENCE B. FLETCHER MEMORIAL LECTURE

A lecture, with colored slides, describing the activities of The Trustees and showing the scenic beauty, natural interest and historic significance of the more than 40 Reservations is available. There is no charge except for transportation. Lecture dates may be arranged with the Executive Secretary who is pleased to present the lecture to interested groups and organizations throughout the State. Contact the headquarters of The Trustees of Reservations, 224 Adams Street, Milton, Massachusetts, 02186. Telephone: 698-2066. Area code 617.

MANAGEMENT POLICIES

All property of all Reservations, together with all their assets and liabilities, belong to and are the responsibility of The Trustees of Reservations.

The Standing Committee determines policies, disbursements of monies and the terms of use of the Reservations by the public.

GENERAL POLICIES

To welcome the public on the Reservations, which are set aside for the enjoyment of natural beauty and the edification provided by historic places.

To preserve The Trustees' lands in pristine condition.

To cherish handsome trees, native wildflowers and shrubs.

To protect birds and wildlife.

To keep vistas open and excess scrub growth cut down.

To keep all roads, paths, parking areas, picnic grounds and service buildings, simple and inconspicuous.

LOCAL COMMITTEES

Each Reservation is managed by a Local Committee approved by and responsible to the Standing Committee. It shall consist of individuals who have concern for the Reservation and will help administer and oversee it as circumstances require. It shall have one or more members of the Standing Committee and of the Corporation if practicable.

Duties

1. To arrange for the visiting public.
2. To receive income from fees payable for service rendered visitors; to help the Standing Committee raise funds for normal and extraordinary expenses of the Reservation; and to report on the same.
3. To hire, pay and superintend such labor and buy such materials as may be required for construction and maintenance of the Reservation and to account for the same to the Standing Committee.
4. To protect the Reservation from injury and mistreatment.
5. To report annually to the Standing Committee on matters of current interest.

6. To make recommendations to the Standing Committee for such changes and improvements, construction and emergency work as may be needed or desirable. This duty includes undertakings which affect the permanent character of the area, such as increase of land holdings; tree felling; building of roads, major trails and firebreaks; designs for planting, shelters, service buildings, memorials and alterations of existing buildings.
7. To draw up local rules and regulations for the approval of the Standing Committee and file the same in the Office of The Trustees.

Study and appreciation of the Reservation should be encouraged. Where feasible, descriptions of land, local history, geology, botany, ecology, bird lore and wildlife should be collected and published for the use of visitors.

Where conditions permit, a small area should be set aside in the Reservation where typical kinds of rocks, plants and trees can be labeled for the information of visitors.

AGASSIZ ROCK RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Miss Frances L. Burnett
Bertram W. Allen, Mrs. E. Sturgis Hinds, G. Endicott Putnam, George Putnam, Jr. and Daniel F. Slade.

Giant glacial boulder Big Agassiz lies in wooded swamp hollow.

Twenty thousand years ago, the crushing weight of the continental ice cap covered New England, and its moving mass shaped the contours of the land. When it melted, it left behind the rough ridges, the rocks and boulders, the sand and silt moraines, the soft, round hills called drumlins and the lakes and rivers which form the character of the countryside today.

Two huge glacial boulders in Agassiz Rock Reservation are products of the ice age in America. Both are said to have been discovered by Louis Agassiz, Harvard University's famed professor of natural history. At the top of Beaverdam Hill, a 10-minute walk up a wooded path from the entrance of the Reservation on School Street, is Agassiz Rock (elevation 180 feet). Below, to the north, in a wooded swamp hollow, is the second giant boulder called "Big Agassiz." The open ledges are striated with the marks of grinding rocks under tons of glacial ice. Beneath the Reservation's hemlock, beech and maples are other ledges with all kinds of mosses and lichens, bearberry, ground pine, blueberry and huckleberry. Beaverdam Hill looks out over Beaverdam Swamp and the town to Manchester Harbor, Salem Bay and the blue Atlantic.

The Reservation is surrounded by woodlands and swamp. A fire tower to the north is on Morss Hill. To the west is Cedar Swamp which stretches along School Street. Water from Cedar Swamp, and Beaverdam Swamp within the Reservation, is being piped overland to Gloucester to help relieve a city-wide water shortage. The arrangement which makes this possible is temporary.

The Trustees acquired Agassiz Rock Reservation in 1957. The original 28.8 acres and an endowment of $5,000 were given by Arthur W. Stevens. In 1958, Mr. Stevens gave another 46 acres. In 1960 and 1961, 7.8 acres and 2.72 acres were purchased by the Trustees. Samuel Knight & Sons Co. gave 6.17 acres in 1962. And in 1963, 4 acres were purchased with funds provided by friends of the Reservation.

An additional acre of woodland was given in 1964 by Mrs. Irene Warner and Miss Doris Peabody in memory of their uncles, William A. and Charles H. Stone. Approximately three acres of woodland were acquired in 1965 through the generosity of Edwin F. Butler of Manchester, Roland E. Butler of Maine and Dorothea Butler and Barbara Babin, both of Michigan. The land was given in memory of Nelson A. Butler, formerly of Manchester. Mr. Stevens, the original donor of Agassiz Rock Reservation, died in September, 1966. The Trustees have lost a valued friend.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Agassiz Rock Reservation continues as a pleasant place for people to go for a peaceful walk in the woods, and with a little climb, to enjoy the extensive view out over the Town of Manchester to Massachusetts Bay. Fortunately an intervening wooded hillside has not yet been built upon. In addition, the Reservation is increasingly used as an outdoor laboratory for local classes studying glacial effects, as well as other aspects of natural history, and students are brought by bus from as far away as Brookline.

"During 1966 the City of Gloucester pumped water intermittently from a deep well located on land owned by the Trustees."

The description of each Reservation contains the title of the United States Geological Survey (USGS) map (or maps) upon which the Reservation appears. These topographical sheets of Massachusetts are published in 7.5 minute quadrangles. They may be obtained from the U. S. Geological Survey, Washington 25, D. C., or at many book, stationery and sporting goods stores around the State.

BARTHOLOMEW'S COBBLE RESERVATION

*Sheffield—at Ashley Falls on the Housatonic River west of Route 7

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Morgan G. Bulkeley

Dr. Herbert J. Arnold, Hal Borland, Boughton Cobb, Mrs. Lawrence K. Miller, Mrs. Milton C. Rose, John Storer, Robert K. Wheeler and Howard T. Bain, Warden.

Bordering the winding Housatonic River in the southern end of Berkshire County, Bartholomew's Cobble Reservation is a natural rock garden of unbelievable beauty. Its two high limestone knolls rise some 75 feet above the river. White pine, hemlock and red cedar, as well as elm, ash and maple, clothe its slopes. Open pasture land, scattered with cedar clumps, extends southward. And everywhere are the gray and weathered rocks, decked with ferns and covered with lichen, which give the Cobble its name. (The word comes from the German "kobel" or "koble", meaning rocks, a name applied to a hill of moderate elevation whose sides have a covering of loose or cobble stones.)

In colonial days, at the time of the French and Indian War, the area was included in several thousand acres granted to Col. John Ashley, an early settler. More recently it was owned by George Bartholomew.

The Cobble, some 44 acres, is a paradise of wild fowl, marsh and song birds; wild flowers and plants. Located on a minor "fly-way" composed of the Housatonic River and the North and South branches of the Housac River in the northern Berkshires and southern Vermont, the Cobble is visited by hundreds of different species of birds, and former Warden S. Waldo Bailey (who died in 1963 at the age of 72) counted and identified more than 600 botanical species of plants. Both plants and birds are described and listed in two of his booklets, "Bartholomew's Cobble" (botany and geology) and "Birds of the Cobble."

In 1963, the Local Committee, remembering Warden Bailey with affection and respect, initiated a drive to raise funds for a trailside museum to be named in his honor. The S. Waldo Bailey Museum was opened in 1965. It contains natural history exhibits, photographs and wall charts which add to the enjoyment and understanding of the Cobble.

Bartholomew's Cobble Reservation was acquired in 1946 with donations from interested friends. In 1963, The Trustees of Reservations purchased the Ox-bow meadow peninsula and a 20-foot strip along the east bank of the Housatonic, a total of about 14 acres.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The 1966 season at the Cobble showed 163 fewer paid admissions than last year's record high, but the attendance of 1,689 people ranks second in the reservation's 20-year history.

"Visitors came from 28 states and 19 foreign countries. Groups up to 40 varied from school and camp children to enthusiastic botanists from the New England Wildflower Preservation Society.

"Comments in the register give some idea of visitors' reactions: 'This is a paradise; Why don't more people know about it?—Mosquitoes are terrible—Unsurpassed for sheer beauty—Can't wait to get back—A rewarding tour—A tremendous education—Well-kept—It's not easy to get lost—We threw hard-boiled eggs at the canoeists.—One of our favorite haunts—The world needs more such unspoiled sanctuaries.' One youngster, impressed with the chickadees that came to his hand, wrote simply: 'Birds tickle.' An older visitor from Florida commented wistfully: 'Played here as a child of 12.'

"The Bailey Museum, with some added nature charts, exhibition material and reference books was very popular. Warden Howard Bain conducted many tours over the trails pointing out this year's exceptional stand of bishop's cap, the inconspicuous adder's-tongue fern and wall rue, a cardinal or mockingbird, and other rarities. All trails were mowed and maintained, and slight cuttings were made to preserve stages of ecology, control overgrowth and retain vistas.

"The honesty of the visiting public appeared good when a lost wallet was returned to its owner, but not so good when six sections of split-rail fence were stolen. It is hoped that this and other poorly-defined margins, will be fenced with barbed wire by the mid-April opening date. The Local Committee thanks all those individuals who contributed in one way or another to this second-record season, especially Warden Bain."

A NATIONAL HISTORIC LANDMARK

The rambling, white-clapboard country home of William Cullen Bryant looks out on the rolling Berkshire Hills of Cummington. Here is where Bryant grew up, and when only 17 years old, wrote "Thanatopsis", a poem which The North American Review published in 1817. The magazine was reluctant to do so at first. As one man of letters said at the time, "No one on this side of the Atlantic is capable of producing such verse." The young poet went on to become famous, both for his verse and as the editor of the New York Evening Post, but he never forgot his boyhood home. It was sold in 1835 when his family moved West. Bryant bought it again in 1866 and spent every summer there until his death. The atmosphere of the place is much the same today as it was when Bryant wrote "A Summer Ramble."

"Rest here beneath the unmoving shade,
And on the silent valleys gaze,
Winding and widening, till they fade
In yon soft ring of summer haze."

The Bryant Homestead, including 189 acres of land, was acquired by The Trustees of Reservations in 1929 by bequest of Minna Godwin Goddard, granddaughter of William Cullen Bryant. With it came a legacy of $10,000. A $10,000 bequest by Julia Sands Bryant, daughter of the poet, was added to the endowment in 1930. Conrad G. Goddard gave the Bryant memorabilia in the Homestead.

The house was originally constructed in 1783, according to a letter Bryant wrote to a friend a century later. It was enlarged after the Civil War. Much of the furniture it contains was used by Bryant himself and his descendents.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Over 1,000 persons visited the Bryant Homestead during the 1966 season. The added number of visitors was due to newspaper articles and to interesting exhibits displayed during the summer. Additional guides were employed especially on weekends.

"We were fortunate to secure, in mid-June as curator, Prof. William Cullen Bryant II, after the resignation of the former curator. Dr. Bryant has done considerable research on the life of Bryant as a poet and editor.

"In July, a hail storm, with hailstones over two and one-half inches in diameter, broke 23 of 24 window panes in the Homestead, and the roofs of the three Homestead buildings were heavily damaged. The roof on the Homestead has been reshingled.

"We are grateful for many valuable gifts for the Homestead including new upholstery and a beautiful Oriental rug for the dining room from Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Crane III; letters from the poet to her grandfather from Mrs. Frank Steele; Bryant Memorabilia from Williams College and display cabinets from the Forbes Library in Northampton, to mention only a few.

"Mr. Clark Joyner, a Cummington dairy farmer, is taking excellent care of the Homestead farm land. He has invested considerable time and money in improving the condition of the fields.

"By next summer we hope to be able to have some tree work done on the old maples leading up to the Homestead and possibly plant some new trees.

"The Committee, anxious to maintain the present good relationship with the Cummington community, plans to open the 1967 season with a Cummington Day open house in June."

CANAUMET: LOWELL HOLLY RESERVATION

USGS Sandwich, Cotuit.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Wilfrid Wheeler, Jr.

Above Cotuit, Poponesset Bay and the tiny town of Mashpee, settled into the sandy stretches of Cape Cod, are two fresh water ponds which feed the Mashpee River. Dividing them is a fist of land sowed with large beech, red maple, black birch and 300 trees of native American holly (Ilex opaca).

The Lowell Holly Reservation, 130 acres in all, lies between the shallow waters of Wakeby Lake and Mashpee Pond and stretches east to Sandwich Street. Bequeathed to The Trustees by the late A. Lawrence Lowell, President of Harvard University, the Reservation is less than two hours drive from Boston. Visitors come by boat and by car to walk the borders of the ponds (in President Lowell's time a buggy trail circled the point), to see the great beds of blooming rhododendrons and, in season, the bright red berries and Christmas-green leaves of the holly plants.

American holly appears along the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts into Florida. The trees can grow to from 40 to 50 feet high with a trunk one to two feet in diameter. Only the female trees bear fruit. They must be fertilized by the male. Holly bark is light gray and smooth. Its elliptical leaves have sharp spinelike teeth. The fruit, or berries, remain on the tree far into the winter. Visitors are asked not to pick holly.

Lowell Holly Reservation was given to The Trustees in 1942 with an endowment of $10,000. The old Indian name for the property is Canaumet.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The popularity of Lowell Holly Reservation continues to increase each year, and 1966 was no exception.

"We started with a Custodian at the Reservation on Saturday, May 28. He was there weekends and holidays until September 11. In addition to his weekend duties, the Custodian employed by the Reservation checked the property on an average of two evenings a week during spring, summer and fall.

"Following is a list of cars, boats and people according to the reports submitted by the Custodian: cars—260; people in cars—1,568; boats—127; people in boats—519. Of the above, at least 195 people from Mashpee came in cars.

"Boats still present a problem. Many coming in from the ponds claim they are entitled to use the shore line and resent being charged the dollar per boat. It is difficult to understand this attitude, for in many cases there may be six or seven people in a boat. They should be willing to contribute toward the expense of maintaining one of the loveliest spots on Cape Cod.

"Very little trouble was experienced with automobiles except a few cars from Camp Otis. Servicemen claim they should not have to pay.

"It is very gratifying to have more and more people from Mashpee use the Reservation. There is no charge to Mashpee residents and evidently they appreciate it.

"The usual maintenance projects were carried out during 1966—scrapping the road, cleaning-up work and, due to Mr. Bates' efforts, cutting brush along the edge of the road.

"We are most fortunate in having Mr. Ferdinand Mills who picks up the rubbish and polices the grounds every Monday.

"Rubbish continues to be a constant problem; the more people we have the more rubbish is left behind.

"Some of the holly is well berried this fall and it is hoped that some cutting and clearing can be done around other holly in the woods.

"Once again our appreciation goes to Mr. Peters, the Fire Chief and Mr. Gifford, Chief of Police. Both have helped greatly during the past year."

CAPE POGE WILDLIFE RESERVATION

*Chappaquiddick Island, Martha's Vineyard (371 acres).
USGS Edgartown.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Oliver D. Filley, Jr.

Mrs. Perkins Bass, Charles E. Mason, Jr., Richard Parmenter,
William W. Pinney, Russell B. Stearns, Mrs. Diana B. Vauclain and Mrs. Seth Wakeman.

The entrance of Edgartown Harbor on the Island of Martha's Vineyard is guarded by two lights. One, at the southern end of Little Beach, is next to the town itself. The other, to the eastward, is on the tip of Cape Poge, a long and narrow spit of sand stretching out from Chappaquiddick Island into Nantucket Sound.

South of the light for two miles, the beach is bordered on the west by the sheltered waters of Cape Poge Bay, and on the east by Muskeget Channel. This wild area of low dunes, cedar thickets, tidal flats and surf-splashed beaches is Cape Poge Wildlife Reservation. The area, known as East Beach, is a haven for migratory land, shore and sea birds. In summer its white sands welcome scores of visitors who come to swim, picnic or fish for stripers.

One way to reach the Reservation is by boat, or take the Chappaquiddick Ferry from Edgartown, then go by car (four-wheel drive) over the sand road to the lighthouse at Cape Poge.

Cape Poge Wildlife Reservation was acquired in 1959. It was the gift of Mr. Charles S. Bird and Mr. Oliver D. Filley with an endowment of $2,500. Mr. Russell B. Stearns contributed an additional $900 to the principal fund. Six acres of beach at the entrance of Cape Poge Bay was added in 1964, a gift of Mr. Richard Parmenter. Several acres of outer beach were given by the late Mrs. Doris Chouinard.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The Local Committee of the Cape Poge Wildlife Reservation held its Annual Meeting on September 5, 1966 with all present except one. The Reservation was felt to be in good condition. A watchman has been employed to check on the use or disuse of the land, since the Reservation is in a remote area.

"Large scale maps of the Reservation and adjacent lands were given to each member. There is great interest in acquiring neighboring lands if possible in order to fill out a geographic entity. Toward this end a quarter interest in a 56-acre (more or less) piece on East Beach stretching from the only land entrance at the Dike to the southern boundary of the former holdings was accepted as a gift from Mrs. Seth Wakeman."

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Charles Culver

Carl Dickinson, Douglas Nye, Ralph Pease and Edwin Weeks.

The tiny community of South Ashfield lies at the western end of Pioneer Valley in southern Franklin County. About two miles south of the town, Williamsburg Road winds through wooded uplands, skirts Pony Mountain (Chapel Ledge on USGS map) and crosses Chapel Brook. The entrance to Chapelbrook Reservation is at the junction of Williamsburg Road and Chapel Falls Road. Just off the road, the stream drops 10 feet, 15 feet and 25 feet in a series of sparkling waterfalls. The forest area is rich with pine and hemlock, beech, yellow birch, hornbeam and maple. The Reservation, which includes Pony Mountain, totals 128 acres. Chapelbrook was given to The Trustees by Mrs. Henry T. Curtiss in memory of her husband.

CHARLES RIVER PENINSULA RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman George S. Weld

Augustin H. Parker, Jr.

Dr. James F. Powers

William B. Rogers, Jr.

Of all the rivers which run through Boston to the sea, none has the majestic beauty of the Charles. From its source at Echo Lake in Hopkinton, it winds past Dover, Dedham and Natick, at times in the peaceful comfort of the past, then, too suddenly, the signs of civilization—factories, stores and homes—close in to choke its course before it widens out again.

The Charles River Peninsula in Needham is much the same today as it was a century ago. Preserved as a Reservation since 1960, its 29 acres, primarily open fields, were once the pasture land of the Walker Gordon Farm. Mallards, black duck, doves and pheasants still find a quiet refuge here, with only the soft swish of a canoe paddle to break the stillness.

The Charles River Peninsula Reservation was the gift of Mr. William M. Austin, Mr. Henry R. Guild, Dr. James F. Powers, Mr. William B. Rogers, Jr. and Mr. George S. Weld.

COMMITTEE REPORT

“The Charles River Peninsula remains an oasis of fields and woods and a refuge for fishermen and wild life. The long stretch of unspoiled countryside that its banks give to the Charles is surely conducive to the noticeable increase in canoeing on the river. It is a pleasure to record, in contrast, a considerable decline in hot-rod outboarding. It is also a pleasure to record the addition of Augustin H. Parker to the Peninsula Committee.”

CHESTERFIELD GORGE RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Mrs. Clarence E. Swenson

Rolf R. Benzian, Charles A. Bisbee, Jr., Morris Healy, Geneva Sayre and William C. Kellogg, Warden

The Westfield River picks up the waters of the Swift at Swift River Village and for the next five miles runs through a narrow, twisting valley to West Chesterfield. There the river drops steeply with heavy rapids, flows through the town and rounds the corner into the gorge.

A deep canyon, sided with sheer granite cliffs topped by tall hemlocks and spruce, Chesterfield Gorge is a spectacular sight. At the upper end of the narrows are the remains of a high bridge which carried the old stage road from 1769 until it was abandoned in 1875. Below the gorge, the river rushes past rocky ledges and runs swiftly through the steep valley and out into what were once lush farmlands.

The Chesterfield Gorge Reservation now totals 161 acres. Seventeen and one-half acres on the east bank of the river were purchased by The Trustees in 1929 to rescue the area from logging. Five and one-half acres on the west bank were added in 1929 subject to the life tenancy of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Thayer. Contributions for this purchase were made by Mrs. Stanley King and Mr. Sidney L. Beals. In 1950, inspired by the interest of Mrs. Clarence R. Swenson, the Pioneer Valley Association gave The Trustees 30 acres on the east bank. In 1955 the Quinnehtuk Company gave an additional five acres, completing The Trustees' holdings in the gorge. Another three acres of riverbank were purchased in 1963. The town owns a "swimming hole" at a bend in the river just above the gorge.

One hundred acres of forest land adjoining the east side of the Gorge were purchased from Mr. Joseph E. Gagnon in 1965. Included was a section of the old stage road.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Last summer was a pleasant one at the Gorge. About 1,600 persons, plus a great many Chesterfield people, who came in free, were our visitors.

"The very deep pool at the foot of the steepest rocks, became very popular all of a sudden, and young people used it each day, making it perhaps advisable next year, for some kind of a sign to protect ourselves.

"We are pleased to report that the pile of old cars on the edge of the road has been removed by the new owners of the property."

RICHARD T. CRANE, JR. MEMORIAL RESERVATION

Ipswich—on Argilla Road about six miles from Route 1A at Ipswich South Green (1,326 acres). USGS Ipswich, Gloucester.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Sidney N. Shurcliff

Francis R. Appleton, Jr., Mrs. Cornelius Crane, David C. Crockett, Arthur H. Phillips, Philip S. Weld, Frederic Winthrop, and Nathan W. Bates, General Manager.

Great House, Castle Hill, built in 1928, resembles an English country house at the time of Charles II.

The drifting sands of Castle Neck stretch for more than three miles along the shore of Ipswich Bay. The dunes, stirred by the wind and waves, have moved restlessly on the beach for centuries, changing the shape of the land. This is a special world of sand and sea where creatures must be different to survive.

Since the beginning of history, the beach and Castle Hill have been a natural landmark. They caught the eye of Captain John Smith who sailed past the sandy shoreline in 1614 and wrote about the "rising hilles" and "delightful groves." When the settlers came they bought the land from the Indians, under the leadership of John Winthrop, Jr.

In 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crane began acquiring property in the area and built a magnificent Italian villa on the top of Castle Hill with formal gardens and a grand allée, lined with statuary, leading to the sea. The villa was later torn down, and the present Great House erected in the 1920's. Its architectural style is English, at the time of Charles II.

One thousand acres of beach and dunes were given to The Trustees in 1945 in memory of Mr. Richard T. Crane, Jr. by Mrs. Crane and the Crane family. In 1949, additions were made to the Reservation—300 acres, comprising the major portion of Castle Hill, Middle Hill and Steep Hill with beach, dunes and marshlands; and 50 acres of beach and dunes adjoining Castle Neck Beach. In 1952, Florence Crane Belosselsky exercised her option to acquire 55 acres. In 1953, 16 acres were given to the Town of Ipswich. Patterson Island, 22.75 acres, was the gift of a member of The Trustees in 1957.

In 1965, Mrs. Regina Dodge Eliot gave about 10 acres of salt marsh adjacent to the Reservation. And easements on adjacent marshland to the Castle Neck River were the gift of Professor and Mrs. Charles W. Eliot, II, in 1966.

Today the Great House is used for meetings, benefits and dances. In summer, it becomes home for the North Shore Branch of the New England Conservatory of Music. From its terrace, surrounded by spacious green lawns, there is a magnificent view of sea, sand and marshlands. The beach is visited by thousands annually. (See "Life in the Shifting Dunes," the ecology of Crane's Beach, by Lawrence B. White, Jr., a Boston Museum of Science publication.)

COMMITTEE REPORT

"In 1966, for the second successive year, The Trustees permitted the New England Conservatory of Music to use Castle Hill as a summer school from the end of June for eight weeks. The Great House was again temporarily converted into a dormitory and dining facility, the 'Brown' residence was again used for practice rooms and dormitory, and the biggest hayloft of the Farm Group for an auditorium for the Opera School. A parking space for about 150 cars was constructed this year at the Farm Group.

"The second season of the Conservatory summer school was a repeated success and arrangements have been made for its return again in the summer of 1967.

"The Castle Hill Foundation, which operates the Great House and the immediately surrounding grounds for cultural purposes, as a tenant of The Trustees (when not in use by the Conservatory), has finished its 16th season, providing seven weekends of summer concerts and entertainment. It also utilized the House for numerous scientific, cultural, and social events throughout the year. Mr. David C. Crockett, President of the Foundation, reports that in the month of June there was, on the average, at least one meeting, conference and social event per day. The financial proceeds were used to make improvements on the house, grounds and 'Casino' buildings.

"Largely because of beautiful weather and our reputation for good housekeeping, attendance at the beach was the largest in its history. While this resulted in greater income, it also involved greater expense for salaries and supplies to our store. The records of Mr. Charles Pickard, who has long been our Beach Superintendent, show that in all, 55,233 cars and 225 buses paid admission to the main beach. In addition, Ipswich residents, who are allowed to park without charge, made intensive use of the beach throughout the summer. Still further, 1,830 cars paid admission to the Steep Hill Recreation Area, which includes picnic tables as well as a beach. Among the busiest events were a dozen or more high school picnics and the annual Ipswich school picnic in June with 2,400 children.

"Finally, we again report the fact that the inner beach on the Castle Neck River was intensively used by boatsmen all through the summer."

Thousands enjoy the soft sands of Crane's Beach on a hot, summer afternoon.

CROWNINSHIELD ISLAND RESERVATION

Marblehead—off beach at Dolliber Cove between Peach's Point and the old town settlement (5 acres). USGS Marblehead North.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

William L. Payson

W. Henry Barry, Warden

Around the corner from Fort Sewall, the northern arm of Marblehead Harbor, and protected by the headland of Peach's Point, is Dolliber Cove. Gerry Island and Crowninshield Island, only a few yards off shore, shelter the Cove and a quiet stretch of water behind them, from the northeast.

Crowninshield Island, also called Brown Island and Orne's Island, is named for Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield, a resident of Peach's Point for many years and one of the nation's leading advocates of historic preservation. She gave it to The Trustees in 1955. Its endowment is $15,000. From its 50 foot height there is a sweeping view of Salem Bay, the Beverly shoreline and Bakers and Misery Islands.

During Marblehead Race Week hundreds of white sails sparkle on the blue waters of the bay. The reservation is used primarily for picnicking and camping. It totals about five acres.

DINOSAUR FOOTPRINTS RESERVATION

Holyoke—west bank of the Connecticut River off Route 5 headed towards Northampton (7.5 acres). USGS Mt. Tom, Springfield North.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

Two hundred million years ago, when the earth was going through the stages of its birth, the surface of the land was changing—the climate grew slowly less severe. This was the age of the reptile-turtles, snakes and lizards and the beginning of the great era of the dinosaurs.

These massive creatures ruled the earth until the end of the Cretaceous period, 63 million years ago. Signs of them still exist on the American landscape. In 1836, on the west bank of the Connecticut River in Holyoke, Professor (later President) Hitchcock of Amherst College discovered giant foot prints. They were identified as dinosaur tracks.

"These tracks," says an archeological expert, "were made by some of the earliest known dinosaurs in Triassic time, 190,000,000 years ago, made in or about mud puddles which dried up and the mud was sun-baked, so that the next rains which refilled the puddles, buried the tracks instead of washing them out. Then the whole mass was buried under thousands of feet of sandstone, and has been re-exposed by the Connecticut River having carried away the over-laying layers."

The Dinosaur Reservation, now a total of seven and one-half acres, was purchased in 1935. The State Department of Public Works has rip-rapped the stream to prevent erosion of the area.

DOANE FALLS RESERVATION

Royalston—at the junction of Hill Road and the main road from Royalston to Athol (12 acres). USGS Royalston.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

The township of Royalston lies in the northwest corner of Worcester County on the New Hampshire border. Through it runs Lawrence Brook, joining Tully Brook above Tully Dam in land set aside as a U. S. Government Flood Control Area. Just above the junction of the two streams, where Lawrence Brook flows through a granite gorge crowned with pines and hemlock, is a magnificent waterfall.

The Doane Falls Reservation was obtained by The Trustees in 1957 to protect one side of the falls. The State also has recreation rights within the nearby government flood control area.

ELLIOTT LAUREL RESERVATION

Phillipston—on the Petersham-Templeton Road just west of the south end of Queen Lake (25 acres). USGS Templeton, Athol.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman John M. Woolsey, Jr.,

John Fiske, Mrs. John Fiske, Hugh M. Raup and Miss Olive Simes.

Located in western Worcester County, the town of Phillipston is very little north of the exact center of the state. Its land is typical of the central highland regions of Massachusetts which form the southern boundary of the north New England climate zone. There, just west of Queen Lake, is the 25-acre Elliott Laurel Reservation.

The land is uneven with bold outcrops of granite ledge and boulders covered with lichens, moss and ferns. On the hillside are spruce, hemlock, pine, oak and birch. From the top of the height is a splendid view of the surrounding country including Quabbin Reservoir. But the real attraction is the mountain laurel which blooms in June.

Elliott Laurel Reservation was given in 1941 by Frederick W. Elliott in memory of his mother. It was endowed by Miss Olive Simes.

FORK FACTORY BROOK RESERVATION

*Medfield—between Route 109 and Hartford Street (61.9 acres).
USGS Medfield.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman LeBaron C. Colt, Jr.,
Pliny Jewell, III Mario Pederzini

North of Route 109 in Medfield, next to Rocky Woods Reservation, are 61.9 acres of woodland, swamp and lowland filled with pitcher plants and wild cranberry. A stream, Mill Brook, runs through the property and nearby, more than a century ago, stood a mill used to manufacture pitch forks. The land, which became a Reservation this year, was given by Mr. Pliny Jewell, Jr. and his sister Mrs. Barrett Williams in memory of their parents. It will be known as Fork Factory Brook Reservation.

Memories of the old fork factory are recalled in a newspaper article by Marion Henderson. In 1838, a grist mill and a nail factory were purchased and “. . . fitted up for the manufacture of hay forks and similar goods . . .” A map dated 1852 shows “J. Seaver Partridge, Fork Manufacturers,” but by the 1880's the building was vacant. Today a Medfield resident, Charles Allen, has an eight-tine fork made at the old factory many years ago. Its handle appears to have been carved by hand. Part of the flume and the foundation of the old factory remain today where Mill Brook runs under Route 109.

GLENDALE FALLS RESERVATION

Middlefield—off the north side of Clark Wright Road on a stream joining the Middle Branch of the Westfield River (60 acres). USGS Chester.

Chairman Richard A. Waite
Robert Cross, Elmer Foster and Miss Elizabeth B. MacKenzie.

Half a mile east of the Middle Branch of the Westfield River, in the town of Middlefield, is a spread of open land, a part of Glendale Farm. Through the meadows runs Glendale Brook, a winding stream fed by over five square miles of watershed before it reaches Glendale Falls.

There the brook, a roaring torrent with high water in the spring, cascades down the hillside, falling from 100 to 150 feet, a spectacular sight seen by hundreds of visitors annually.

Neighboring Glendale Farm, owned by Mr. Richard A. Waite, reaches far back in history. One of the early owners was Captain Nathan Wright, a veteran of the Revolutionary War. The property remained in the Wright family for more than a century and a quarter. Mr. Waite purchased Glendale Farm in 1945. Glendale Falls, bought by The Trustees, became a Reservation in 1964. It totals about 60 acres. Over the years, pleas to preserve and protect the falls have appeared in numbers of books and reports.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"On Tuesday, August 30, 1966, the first meeting of the Local Committee was held at the home of Richard A. Waite. Present were Mr. Waite, Elmer Foster, Elizabeth MacKenzie and Loring Conant. Mr. Waite was elected Chairman of the Committee and presided.

"The Reservation has been appreciated by many visitors during the season and it is evident that they have respected the property. There is some evidence of poison ivy in the Falls area that should be sprayed. After some discussion about placing a picnic bench, it was decided to defer final decision until a later date. Last year's forest fire, resulting from brush being burned by the telephone company during construction of the underground cable, burned and damaged about a half acre on the side of Hemlock Knoll. The committee felt that the dead hemlocks should be cut down.

"It was suggested that a hiking trail system be laid out in the area across from the Falls.

"It was also recommended that some of the scrub trees around the old mill foundation at the head of the Falls could be cleared to make this historic area more attractive.

"With the welcome abundant fall rains of 1966, Glendale Falls again resumed those proportions of a young Niagara with which many people were once familiar. The water, cascading over several hundreds of feet of ledge, plus a brilliant display of background foliage during late September and early October, created a natural environment worth travelling many miles to see.

"Lots of people did visit the Falls during the 1966 season, some travelling great distances as evidenced by the license plates on their automobiles. One of the most enthusiastic visitors was a citizen of Spain.

"There are new 'neighbors' a few hundred feet upstream from the Falls upon whom next summer's visitors may wish to call. A family of beavers has chosen a dam site almost at the reservation's property line."

HALIBUT POINT RESERVATION

Rockport—on northerly tip of Cape Ann between Folly Cove and Andrew's Point (12.25 acres). USGS Gloucester.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman H. Lawrence Jodry, Jr.

John Eliot, Aldo T. Hibbard, Robert C. Hooper, John Kieran,
Miss Agnes Mongan and Robert E. Silva, Warden

Halibut Point, whose rocky headland forms the northern tip of Cape Ann, was one of the first settlements in what today is the Town of Rockport.

For some 50 years, the coastline of the Cape to the north and east was set aside as "common land" by the Town of Gloucester. But in 1688, the waterfront was divided into six-acre lots. Four years later, in 1702, six lots on Halibut Point were bought by Samuel Gott, a weaver from Wenham. Soon afterwards, Gott built himself a home and turned his land holdings into a farm. The house he built still stands today at the eastern end of Gott Avenue, and is still occupied by his descendants.

Halibut (or Haul-About) Point, where sailing vessels rounded Cape Ann, is a bluff headland, 50 feet high. Its shelving sheets of granite rock step down into the sea.

It looks out on the sandy stretches of Plum Island, the New Hampshire coast, and on a clear day, Mount Agamenticus in Maine. In summer the waters off the Point are scattered with white sails, and lobstermen haul their traps just beyond the rocky shore. In winter, when a storm drives down from the northeast, foaming surf pounds at the rocks, the gulls seek shelter inland and the air is filled with white spray. Back from the shore, in season, there are wood lillies, asters, bayberry and blackberry.

Gifts from Dr. John C. Phillips and other Rockport residents, enabled The Trustees to obtain Halibut Point Reservation in 1934. Adjustments in the property lines authorized by the Supreme Judicial Court were made in 1954. The area now totals some 12.25 acres.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Public access to the shore along the New England sea coast is increasingly limited as areas formerly open and in an unimproved state are enclosed and developed. Such holdings as The Trustees of Reservations have along the sea are precious. How fortunate that we have Halibut Point! Its popularity increases each year. Warden Robert E. Silva reports that 3,135 cars used the parking area, an increase of 671 cars from the previous year."

HOLMES RESERVATION

Plymouth—on Court Street (25 acres). USGS Plymouth.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Charles R. Strickland

Raymond E. Miskelly, James A. White, Martin B. Person, Jr. and Ralph Weaver.

It's about 350 years since Captain Christopher Jones brought his ship, the Mayflower, into Plymouth Harbor. The shore line has changed, but the view seaward from a wide field at Court Street and Robin Road is much the same today as it was in 1620.

The Holmes Reservation looks out on the broad expanse of Plymouth Bay; on Duxbury Beach, Clark's Island, and Gurnet Point; on Plymouth Beach and the Plymouth Peninsular.

Before the Revolutionary War, the field on the Reservation was used as a mustering ground. Clearly visible also is the Myles Standish Monument on the top of Captain's Hill (200 feet high) on the peninsula between Duxbury and Kingston Bays.

The Holmes Reservation, which includes the field and a section of beach, presently totals 25 acres. Twenty acres were given in 1944 by Francis C. Holmes and his sister, Miss Helen M. Holmes, with an endowment of $10,000. An additional acre was given in 1955 by the Plymouth Cordage Company. Four acres were purchased by The Trustees in 1959.

GOVERNOR HUTCHINSON'S FIELD RESERVATION

Milton—on Adams Street, top of Milton Hill, next to the Pierce House (10 acres). USGS Boston South.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

Thomas Hutchinson was a man of character and ability caught in the relentless grip of circumstance. There were few in those early days who loved America more, and, ironically, few more loyal to the king and crown. In this divided allegiance lay the tragedy of his life.

Hutchinson was born in Boston in 1711. He graduated from Harvard at 16, and entered a life of public service. In the House of Representatives at 26, by 1750 he was a member of the Council. In 1760 he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor, and in 1770 Governor, by royal proclamation.

Those were stormy times. Britain had imposed a crushing burden of taxes on the colonies—the Molasses Act, the Stamp Act. Rebellion was smoldering, and the fires of discontent were fanned by Samuel Adams, James Otis and John Hancock.

Governor Hutchinson took refuge from his troubles at his home in Milton on the top of Milton Hill. Here, according to an account in a History of Milton, 1640-1887, "he found leisure to cultivate his rural tastes and spent much time in laboring with his men in setting out and grafting trees and attending to the routine of farming and of cultivating fruits. . ."

"My house," he said in a letter to King George III in 1774, "is seven or eight miles from town, a pleasant situation and many a gentleman from abroad says it has the finest prospect from it they ever saw. . ."

Part of the land he owned is today Governor Hutchinson's Field Reservation. Opposite the field stood the Governor's house, looking out over the Neponset River with Boston in the distance.

The Governor's tranquility was shattered by a decision to allow the East India Company to dump its surplus tea on the American market at reduced prices. It was Hutchinson's hope that he could prevent "a rash act either by himself or the citizens of Boston." But under the cover of darkness, Samuel Adams' Sons of Liberty, disguised as Indians, crept aboard a British ship and, in an angry protest, dumped the tea into the harbor. It was a crushing blow for the Governor. "He soon found that his usefulness was at an end and that he could not serve both crown and people and determined to leave the country in whose service he had spent so much time. . ."

Walking down the "lower road", now Adams Street, the day he left, Hutchinson shook hands with many personal friends. He took a carriage to Dorchester Point (now South Boston), and a boat to the city. He soon sailed for England.

On June 3, 1780, Governor Thomas Hutchinson died. He was buried in a churchyard at Croyden, some 10 miles south of London. His letters show that in these last years his thoughts were very much on America and the land he loved near Boston.

Governor Hutchinson's Field was acquired in 1898, a gift of Mr. John M. Forbes and his sister, Mrs. Mary F. Cunningham. Additional land was purchased with funds provided by residents of the area. A bequest from Mrs. Cunningham of $1,400 and further subscriptions help maintain the 10-acre field. From the top of the hill there is a magnificent view of Boston.

MASHPEE RIVER RESERVATION

*Mashpee—land along the Mashpee River south of Route 28.
Access is off Route 28 just beyond Mashpee Circle (375 acres).
USGS Cotuit.*

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

"Salters", or sea-run brook trout, were once found in scores of rivers and streams along the New England coast. They migrated upstream with the alewives in May and June and spent the summer in the cooler fresh water. In the fall they spawned and returned again to the sea. A chunky fish, their dorsal surface is a dark greenish-blue, their sides a pearly silver.

Today the "salter" has practically disappeared from Massachusetts with the exception of the Mashpee River on Cape Cod. A small stream, about four miles long, it is described by James W. Mullan, Aquatic Biologist, Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game: "Its source is the Mashpee-Wakeby Ponds, a stratified cold-water pond system of 729 acres. The stream is supplemented by numerous springs along its course. It empties into Popponesset Bay, part of Nantucket Sound, on the south shore of Cape Cod. About one mile of its lower reaches is tidal or under tidal influence. Only rarely do summertime water temperatures exceed 70 degrees fahrenheit. This stream is perhaps one of the finest natural brook trout streams in the state as reflected in both suitable temperatures and an abundance of naturally-spawned brook trout. Alewives ascend this stream in vast numbers in the spring to spawn in the Mashpee-Wakeby Ponds. Other fairly common fishes to this stream include memmichogs, eels, lampreys, sticklebacks and killifish. Occasionally various warm water species indigenous to the headwater ponds are found in the stream, such as the white sucker or chain pickerel. . ."

The Mashpee River Reservation, about 375 acres in all, follows the course of the stream from Quashnet Road to just south of Old Barnstable Road. The Reservation was a gift from Mr. J. W. Farley in 1959.

MEDFIELD RHODODENDRONS RESERVATION

Medfield—southwest side of Route 27 opposite Kingsbury Pond about one mile south of village (109 acres). USGS Medfield.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Charles E. Cheever

Oliver F. Ames, Benjamin S. Blake, Mrs. John Wells Farley, Parkman D. Howe, Mrs. Augustin H. Parker, Jr., Lucien B. Taylor and Miss Sylvia Warren.

Southwest of Boston in the Town of Medfield, the waters of the Charles River spread out into soft swampland between Noon Hill and Route 27. Opposite Kingsbury Pond is one of the few remaining stands of native rhododendrons.

The Medfield Rhododendrons Reservation totals about 109 acres. About 10 acres contain the rhododendron plants, which in late June and early July flood the area with color. The flowers are pink, rose, lilac and purple. The species usually found in the east is the American or great rhododendron (Rhododendron maximum). Other species grow in the Appalachians, on the Pacific coast and in Europe and Asia. Some, like trees, may grow 40 feet high. Shrub rhododendrons may reach a height of 20 feet.

The plants flourish in well-drained, peaty soil. The flowers of the native rhododendron grow in clusters from a cone-shaped bud. The leaves are lance-shaped and remain green year-round.

The greater part of the rhododendron reservation is swampland, with a scattered growth of red maple, alder and hemlock with white pine and oak on the higher land.

A portion of the land now owned by the Reservation was granted by the Town of Medfield in 1663 to its first minister, John Wilson, a graduate of the first class at Harvard College, and son of John Wilson, the first minister of Boston. Another portion was originally granted to Ralph Wheelock, "founder of Medfield", its first schoolmaster and the ancestor of Eleazer Wheelock, founder of Dartmouth College.

The original Plan of Pine Swamp, which includes the rhododendron swamp, was made in 1663 on a hide of leather. It survived the burning of two town halls and today is in the present Town Hall in Medfield. It is one of the oldest allotment plans in existence in the new world and is covered with the names of ancestors of college presidents, ministers, justices and other leaders in New England history.

The Medfield Rhododendron Reservation was created in 1934 through the generosity of local residents. In 1961, W. K. Gilmore & Sons of Walpole gave an additional 19.3 acres.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"As predicted, the drought which has persisted for the past several years has had an adverse effect on the blooms of the Medfield Rhododendron Swamp. The 'show' in the late spring and early summer of 1966 was very limited. However, autumn rains have raised the water level of the swamp considerably, and there are an encouraging amount of new buds showing as this is written (November 20, 1966).

"The road into the area is now marked by a small sign. The trails are in good condition. Many people, including Boy Scout groups, use the Reservation for recreation and nature study."

MENEMSHA HILLS RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Nathaniel L. Harris

Mrs. David J. Epstein, Thomas Hale, Charles E. Mason, Jr. and

On the northwest shore of Martha's Vineyard, Menemsha Hills Reservation looks out on the waters of Vineyard Sound. Four and a half miles across, the Elizabeth Islands stretch away to the southwest — Naushon, Pasque, Nashawena and Cuttyhunk.

Scrub oak, blueberries and heather cover the land. A headland, 100 feet high, looks down on the soft sands of the beach below. In the distance, between Naushon and Pasque, the current runs fast through Robinson's Hole connecting Buzzards Bay with Vineyard Sound.

Menemsha Hills, which will eventually total 149 acres, comes to The Trustees through the generosity of Mr. Nathaniel L. Harris and his sister, Catherine P. Harris. It was given in memory of their parents. The Reservation may be reached on foot or by boat. A sign on the North Road in Chilmark will mark the entrance.

MISERY ISLANDS RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman George G. Loring

Randolph P. Barton, Paul S. Brailsford, Roland F. Brooks, Thomas L. Duff, Peter R. Harrington, Arthur M. Jones, Jr. and David Thorndike.

On June 12, 1630, the 350-ton vessel Arbella arrived in Beverly. Aboard her were 300 settlers bound for the new world, and the Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, John Winthrop. The Arbella entered Salem Bay, according to the Governor's journal, past Baker's Isle and Little Isle, which today is Little Misery.

Just how Great and Little Misery Islands got their name is still a mystery. They were referred to in early records of the colony as "Morton's Misery" and "Moulton's Misery." Robert Moulton was a master ship's carpenter sent over by London adventurers in 1629 to encourage ship building. All the islands of the bay in those early days were heavily wooded, and speculation has it that although there is no evidence he owned the islands at any time, he could have leased them for their supply of timber, easily rafted to nearby Salem.

During the 19th century, houses were built on the islands—some elegant, some modest—and at one time the land on Big Misery was farmed.

The islands nearly became the site of a fertilizer plant until they were purchased about 1900 to be used by the Misery Island Club as a summer resort. During its brief heyday, the Club flourished. Steam launches ran regularly from West Beach pier to Misery Cove. The number of bungalows and homes grew rapidly and the island supported a thriving summer colony. But the club was a financial flop. It was destroyed by fire in 1926. Fire also claimed most of the private homes, by that time deserted by their owners. Their ruins, and the remains of "The Casino," as the club was called, are still visible.

Today the islands are more popular than ever. Scores of visitors use them for picnicking and camping, and yachts lie at anchor in their coves.

Misery Islands Reservation became Trustee property in 1935 when 68 acres were acquired with the help of subscriptions from local residents. In 1938, Dr. John C. Phillips and Mr. Charles S. Bird gave an additional six and one-half acres. Five more acres were added in 1940 from the estate of Theodore C. Hollander. One-half acre in 1950, and two and one-half acres in 1955 were purchased by The Trustees.

Mission House—where John Sergeant and his bride lived in the middle 1700's.

In 1735, six years after young John Sergeant graduated from Yale, he came to the wilderness of western Massachusetts as a missionary to the Housatonic Indians.

In those days, there was only one English settlement in the area, the town of Sheffield, now Great Barrington. So to give the missionary movement a community of its own, the Indians were brought together in a new town called Stockbridge. As their leader, Sergeant learned the Indian language, and preached two sermons in it every Sunday. His salary was 100 Pounds a year.

There were four other Englishmen in the town besides Sergeant, a "civilizing" influence on the Indians. One, Ephraim Williams, built himself a stockade on the hill overlooking the crude village below where Sergeant lived alone among the Indians. Ephraim Williams had a daughter, Abigail. She and Sergeant met and fell in love. In 1739 they were married, but not before Abigail had made it clear she wanted to live on the hill near her family, not in the Indian village. Sergeant had built for his bride what today is called The Mission House. Its striking "Connecticut doorway" was fashioned in Westfield, according to legend, and brought to Stockbridge by ox-team over a wilderness trail. In 1928, unoccupied and neglected, it was acquired by Miss Mabel Choate, taken down piece by piece, and reconstructed on Main Street, only a stone's throw from the house where John Sergeant lived before his marriage. In 1948, Miss Choate gave the property, with an endowment, to The Trustees of Reservations.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The Berkshire Eagle featured a half page pictorial display of the Mission House during the summer for the information of visitors to the Berkshires.

"From the opening of the Mission House in May until the closing in October, 3,021 people visited the Museum."

West of the Annisquam River, Cape Ann spreads out from Magnolia and Kettle Cove to the south, to the Essex River in the north. In the center of this broad expanse of woodlands, marsh and shoreline is a ridge of land called Thompson Mountain. Its peak (270 feet), is called Mount Ann. From the top on a clear day, the view to the north stretches from Mount Agamanticus in Maine down the New Hampshire coast to Ipswich Bay. To the southwest is Boston Harbor, the city itself and Scituate beyond. Inland, over the forest and low hills, in the haze is Mount Wachusett. Offshore, the broad blue Atlantic reaches to the far horizon.

Below, to the north, is Haskell Pond and to the south, Dykes Pond. Much of the land surrounding them protects the water supply for the City of Gloucester.

Thompson Mountain was named for the Rev. Samuel Thompson minister of the West Parish Meeting House, who died in 1724. His grave may be seen today in the old burying ground in West Parish.

Mount Ann Park Reservation, now 81 acres, starts at the State parking lot off Route 128. A wooded path with steps winds its way past shaggy hemlocks and large boulders to the summit. A memorial tablet is set into the rock near the path. A circuit trail system has opened new areas and vistas.

Mount Ann Park became a Reservation in 1897. The original 50 acres were given in memory of Henry Davis Minot by his brothers, William, Charles S., Robert S. and Laurence Minot. Additional land was added by David O. Mears and the heirs of Edward Bray; and Mrs. Ruth A. Oakes, daughter of Sidney F. Haskell. George Wigglesworth contributed $1,000 for the timber rights in the new area.

From 1952 to 1954, $19,831 was added to the Henry Davis Minot Memorial Fund, the property's endowment fund, by members of the Minot family. An additional $5,000 was given in 1963, a bequest from Mrs. Henry M. Channing, daughter of William Minot, one of the original donors.

MONUMENT MOUNTAIN RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Robert K. Wheeler

Arthur C. Chase, George G. Francis, John B. Swann and Mrs. E. Morgan Vigneron, Jr.

In the Berkshire County town of Great Barrington, the steep sides of Monument Mountain rise some 1,700 feet above sea level. To the east, the winding Housatonic River; to the west Route 7, a ribbon of highway stretching out below.

Paths from a picnic grove off the highway lead to the summit of Squaw Peak. A cairn is located at the foot of the steepest ledges. Legend says it marks the leap of an Indian maiden, and gives the mountain its name.

The slopes of the hill are covered with red pine and there is mountain laurel in the clearings. The view from the summit is magnificent.

Monument Mountain Reservation was given to The Trustees in 1899 by the late Helen C. Butler. It was the fulfillment of a wish of her sister, the late Rosalie Butler "that it might be preserved forever for the enjoyment of the public." Miss Butler's original gift was accompanied by $2,000 for the care of the Reservation. It was increased by an additional $5,000 in 1906.

The Reservation totals 256.5 acres. Monument Mountain itself is west of Route 7. East of the highway is a parking area and picnic grove. This year a regional high school is under construction east of Route 7. It adjoins a portion of the Reservation.

It was a grand time of gracious living, of rambling country homes and formal gardens, of carriages and croquet, of parasols and piazzas. It was the end of the 19th century and a glorious world which would soon be gone.

In the quiet gardens of Naumkeag, facing the western Berkshire hills, the golden age of elegance comes alive again. Here in the great house built in 1885 as a summer home for Joseph Choate, prominent New York attorney and one-time United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, are formal promenades and pagodas, fountains and terraces and a Chinese Garden, whose peaceful temple is a showplace for oriental sculpture. The temple was constructed by Miss Mabel Choate, daughter of the Ambassador, who bequeathed the place in which she spent so many happy years to The Trustees of Reservations. The house itself, designed by architect Stanford White, is filled with collections of furniture, china, paintings, engravings and books reflecting the interests and imagination of both the Ambassador and Miss Choate.

The gardens, however, were Miss Choate's special interest, and with the distinguished landscape architect, Fletcher Steele, she made Naumkeag into a paradise of beauty. The estate totals 46 acres. Naumkeag was taken from the Indian name for Salem where Ambassador Choate was born. It means "haven of peace."

NOON HILL RESERVATION

Medfield—on Noon Hill Street, a dirt road leading off South Street (52 acres). USGS Medfield.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

Between Stop River and the Charles, below the town of Medfield, is Noon Hill. It rises some 250 feet above the wetlands below, and to the north, looks out over the Medfield Rhododendron Reservation.

The area is wooded, with stands of pine bordered by maple swamps. A series of rocky ledges climbs the hill and below, a small brook twists its way into the marsh.

The original 17 acres of Noon Hill Reservation was given by W. K. Gilmore & Sons of Walpole in 1959. In 1960, 15 acres were given by Mr. Henry L. Shattuck with the cooperation of Mr. Daniel S. Cheever and Dr. S. Sargent Cheever. Twenty acres of adjacent woodland were given in 1963 by Mr. Henry L. Shattuck.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

Just east of the town of Windsor, the Berkshire Trail (Route 9) runs through the southern end of Notchview Farm, some 3,000 acres left to The Trustees of Reservations by the late Lt. Colonel Arthur D. Budd (U. S. Army Retired) in 1965.

side of the Reservation reaching 2,297 feet. Steep Bank Brook and Shaw Brook both run eastward across the property, part of the watershed of the Westfield River. A checkerboard of hayfields, dotted with white clover in the spring, opens up to the south and surrounds the barns and houses. The hillsides are scattered with spruce and hardwoods. The air, even on the hottest summer days, is clear and fresh. And the view through the notch looks eastward down the Berkshire Trail towards the blue hills of Cummington beyond.

Preliminary steps have been taken by The Trustees towards acquiring a land use plan for Notchview Farm Reservation. To the east, Windsor State Forest adjoins the property.

A NATIONAL HISTORIC LANDMARK

At the head of the path off Monument Street, the weathered clapboards of The Old Manse have watched the march of history. Only yards from the battleground and the old North Bridge, the house was originally built by the Rev. William Emerson, grandfather of poet Ralph Waldo Emerson, around 1769. On that April day in 1775, while his wife and children watched from an upstairs window, the young minister stood outside encouraging his parishioners on their way to fight the British.

Today the house is filled with records of the past. On the wall of a third floor room, called the "saints chamber" because visiting clergymen used to stay there, appear these words: "Began Greek, Jan. 26, 1780." They were written by 11-year-old William Emerson, father of the poet. In 1842, Nathaniel Hawthorne rented The Old Manse, and to it brought his new bride, Sophia Peabody. They lived there for three happy years. On the window pane still, scratched with Sophia's diamond ring, are memories of a winter day long ago:

"Una Hawthorne stood on this window sill January 22, 1845 while the trees were all chandeliers, a goodly show, which she liked much tho' only ten months old.

Man's accidents are God's purposes. Sophia Hawthorne 1843. Nathaniel Hawthorne. This was his study 1843.

The smallest twig leans clear against the sky."

Hawthorne made friends with his Concord neighbors, Emerson and Thoreau, walking with them, going on excursions of the river, and meeting in Emerson's House on Lexington Road which Hawthorne could reach by a short cut over the ridge. (Much of this story of The Old Manse comes from Mrs. Caleb Wheeler, Concord's Town Historian.)

Contributions made it possible for The Trustees to purchase The Old Manse in 1939. It includes eight acres of land. The Old Manse adjoins Minuteman National Historic Park.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Early in the year we received a visit from Mr. Charles R. Strickland, President of The Trustees of Reservations. He suggested edging the walks in front of the house. Oversize cobblestones were laid end to end, with good results.

"Six dining room chairs have been re-seated in genuine rush, not too easy to get in these days.

"A survey of the property, for insurance purposes, was made by Mr. F. N. Nowell.

"Appraisal of furniture and furnishings was made by Mr. R. B. Hammond. Photographs of the more important pieces were taken by Mr. Charles Barker. These records are being preserved for insurance and other purposes.

"Mr. Robert F. Needham, our fiscal agent, reports that the Massachusetts Historical Commission, of which he is a member, has given The Old Manse property the protection of 'certification' under the eminent domain statute (General Laws, Chap. 9, Sec. 27 and Chap. 79, Sec. 5A).

"Further improvement of front walk has been made by resetting the flat stones and adding a few more.

"Most of the historical houses in Concord are charging a higher 'guest fee' than we are at The Old Manse. We would like to hold to the present price, as long as expenses do not eat up income.

"Just for a change, the number of visitors in 1966 was not greater than the year before."

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Mrs. George A. Bushee

Mrs. A. J. Barton, Jr., Clinton A. Lunt, Elliott Perkins, Edmund Shepard and Warden, Sam Smith.

Just after Route 133 crosses the widening Parker River, the land rises quickly from the salt marshes to Old Town Hill. The top, more than 100 feet above sea level, looks out on the broad sweep of golden marsh grass, the sand strip of Plum Island, the winding, blue Plum Island River and the Parker River Wildlife Refuge. To the east, the Merrimac joins the deep Atlantic at Newburyport.

In the early 1900's, trollies ran from Newburyport to Newbury Old Town (opposite the hill) and a landing at the Parker River. From there the steamer Carlotta sailed for Ipswich down the "inside passage" through Plum Island Sound.

Old Town Hill Reservation began as "Hale's Old Town Hill Public Park," owned by Stephen P. Hale who loved the land and wanted it preserved. Since 1929, Mrs. George A. Bushee has given The Trustees the several tracts of land which make up the Reservation. Through her generosity, five acres were added in 1966. Part of the property includes a salt marsh bordering Little River which runs into the Parker River just above the bridge. Mrs. Bushee also endowed her gift with $5,000. Old Town Hill is a glacial drumlin. For many years a huge elm tree on the crown of the hill served as a landmark for mariners.

NO LOCAL COMMITTEE

Inside the forearm of Cape Cod north of Wellfleet, Harbor Bar, a narrow finger of land, protects the entrance of the Pamet River which connects Truro to the sea.

The Pamet River Reservation, about 20 acres of salt marsh bordering the river, is bounded by Castle Road and Tom Hill. Harbor Bar, the beach at the mouth of the river, is owned by the Town of Truro.

The Reservation was given The Trustees by the Misses Judith, Ruth and Corinne Bamberger and Mr. Ferdinand Davis. A fine example of Cape Cod tidal salt marsh, Pamet River Reservation is near the parklands of the Cape Cod National Seashore.

· PEGAN HILL RESERVATION

Dover and Natick—approach from South Natick Square on Route 16, southerly on Pleasant Street and bear right on Pegan Street (31 acres). USGS Natick, Medfield.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman George S. Mumford, III

Charles E. Channing, Charles Jackson, Jr. and John L. Thorndike.

Like pieces in a giant puzzle, the land is divided by the Charles. To the east is Dover and the marshland of Trout Brook; to the north, the Charles River Peninsula, Natick and Wellesley; and to the south, about a mile from the river, Pegan Hill.

The hill was named for the Pegan Indians. In early colonial times, a settlement was established there by the Rev. John Eliot's "praying Indians." Eliot, known as the Apostle to the Indians, helped settle the nearby town of Natick. His "praying Indians" lived in the area until the end of King Philip's War, when they were moved, first to Watertown and then to Deer Island.

Pegan Hill Reservation is used for hiking and horseback riding. Twenty-eight acres were given in 1956 by Mr. and Mrs. S. Judson Battelle in memory of Mr. Battelle's father. In 1957, Mrs. Dorothea D. Hovey gave 3.37 acres. Friends in Dover have raised an endowment of $9,000.

PETTICOAT HILL RESERVATION

*Williamsburg—south of Route 9 at sign
(60 acres). USGS Williamsburg.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Professor Robert F. Collins and Mrs. Robert F. Collins.

South of Williamsburg, the hills rise sharply—Scott, Petticoat and Unquomunk—all over a thousand feet.

Petticoat (1,185 feet) scans the countryside for miles. To the south, beyond the city of Northampton, are Mount Tom and the ridges of the Holyoke range; to the east, the broad valley of the Connecticut, with the river, a blue ribbon in the distance. Below, Mill River threads its way to join the Connecticut.

The climb to the top of Petticoat is steep. The trail leads through oak and hemlock to the upper ledges.

Petticoat Hill Reservation was given in 1905 by Mrs. Martha W. Nash as a memorial to her husband, Mr. Edward W. Nash. Ten acres were added in 1923. Mrs. Nash left $2,914 as an endowment for Petticoat Hill.

Next to Gov. Hutchinson's Field Reservation, and only 10 minutes' drive from downtown Boston on the Southeast Expressway (Granite Avenue, East Milton Exit), the Pierce House has been headquarters for The Trustees of Reservations since 1959.

High on the top of Milton Hill, and sheltered from the rush of traffic by a stone wall on Adams Street, its cheerful white bricks look out on the city in the distance.

Below the library of the house, the flagstone terrace and the garden, the land falls away to the river bank, and the Neponset, bordered by salt marsh, curves slowly to the sea.

Beyond, the Prudential Tower, Custom House and State Street Bank Building break the skyline. To the north, a blue strip of Boston Harbor and the islands, then Nahant and Marblehead.

In the spring, the gardens at the Pierce House are bright with Japanese Cherry, flowering crab and rhododendrons. Visitors are always welcome.

The Pierce House, built in 1950, was left to The Trustees of Reservations by Henry L. Pierce of Milton.

PINE AND HEMLOCK KNOLL RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman A. Winslow Dodge

Horace H. Foster, Stuart Langton, Arthur H. Phillips and Richard Phippen.

Northwest of Wenham and the broad expanse of Wenham Lake, the Great Swamp spreads out to the Ipswich River. At highwater, the flood can cover the swamp land, creating a lake several square miles in area.

The Salem-Beverly Waterway Canal, used by canoeists to reach the river, stretches out from Muddy Pond. To the north, behind the settled edges of Pleasant Pond, is a wooded esker covered with pine and hemlock. Off Pleasant Street, on the edge of the swamp, its quiet beauty is much as it must have been hundreds of years ago.

Pine and Hemlock Knoll Reservation was a gift of Dr. John C. Phillips in 1936. The Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary touches the Reservation on three sides. The Bradley W. Palmer State Park is nearby.

REDEMPTION ROCK RESERVATION

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Warden, Mrs. Waldo L. Whitcomb

On February 10, 1676, a band of Indians attacked the town of Lancaster. They carried off 24 of the settlement's inhabitants including the wife of its first minister, Mary White Rowlandson. For 11 weeks Mary Rowlandson remained a captive. The concerned community sought help from a Concord settler, who had under his care for a time, a group of "praying Indians" whom he instructed and protected from the English. His name was John Hoar. Hoar went to Lancaster to negotiate with Mrs. Rowlandson's captors. There, on a huge flat-topped boulder, overlooking a meadow where the Indians had camped, Hoar reached an agreement on ransom and returned Mary Rowlandson to her family.

Redemption Rock became a Reservation in 1952. It was given by John Hoar and John Hoar, Jr. The property was first acquired in 1889 by Senator George F. Hoar, one of the founders and first president of The Trustees, who gave it to John Hoar in 1901.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Mrs. George Lewis, Sr.

Henry M. Bliss, John Grew, Dr. William E. Ladd, Charles E. Lillie, John Plimpton, Richard Saltonstall and Mrs. Lucien B. Taylor.

The waters of the Charles River pass through a settled countryside of towns and cities, over spillways and dams, to the sea. Along its 65 miles, however, there are still sections much the same today as they must have been centuries ago. One of these is Rocky Narrows in Sherborn. Here the river, winding between wooded banks and clearings, passes a small meadow known as "Dingle Hole," then turns between the rocky ledges crowned with hemlock which give the Reservation its name.

A short distance back from the west promontory, on the right, was a fort for defense against the Indians. It was taken down in 1806. A pine-clad stretch of camp ground lies along the river at the north end of the Reservation.

Rocky Narrows is best reached by canoe. Put in at Farm Bridge close to the famous Indian Trail known as Connecticut Path, about one mile downstream from the Narrows.

Rocky Narrows became a Reservation in 1897. Mr. Augustus Hemenway gave the original 21 acres. Additional land and improvements were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Jr., by agreement with the Shell Oil Company and by Mr. Arthur F. Estabrook.

Eighteen miles south of Boston in the Town of Medfield, the land is ridged and wooded. Rocky ledges climb the slopes of the hills and soft ponds mirror the blue sky above.

Between the Dover line and Hartford Street (the old Boston to Hartford Turnpike built in 1806), south of Medfield Center, are 431 acres given to The Trustees of Reservations by Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait.

Rocky Woods Reservation has facilities for hiking, picnicking, boating and fishing, skiing, skating and horseback riding. Its Rocky Woods Club, on the edge of Chickering Lake, a cozy shelter from the weather, is often used for community gatherings. There is a parking area nearby. Rocky Woods is one of the most active recreation areas owned by The Trustees. Dr. Goldthwait gave the original 303 acres in 1942.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"As each year passes, and one reviews the accomplishments, successes and activities of the past season, a great deal of satisfaction is derived in knowing that countless numbers of people have enjoyed the facilities of a property of The Trustees.

"Also, we must look to the future and prepare a program that will enable us to continue providing varied and healthful recreational facilities.

"Our thanks to the headquarters staff for their assistance in many ways."

ROYALSTON FALLS RESERVATION

Royalston—on Falls Road, turn right from Warwick Road out of Royalston Village (205 acres). USGS Royalston.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Philip Dana Orcutt and Professor William Thomson.

Joining Cheshire County in New Hampshire with Massachusetts, Falls Brook runs through the town of Royalston. From the border it heads southeast towards Royalston State Forest. Between the forest and the state line, the brook flows through a natural gorge and over Royalston Falls. On its west bank, the land rises steeply to Wyman Hill, 1,100 feet above sea level. To the east, the rise is more gradual. There is marshland where the brook enters the state forest.

Royalston Falls Reservation may be entered from either New Hampshire because of its topography, or Massachusetts. The New Hampshire road, originally called the "Devil's Stair" was once the main road north from Boston. During the Revolutionary War it was used to transport cannon from Bunker Hill to Bennington, Vermont.

Royalston Falls was given to The Trustees by Mr. George L. Foote in 1951. Mr. and Mrs. Foote gave an additional five acres in 1954.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Oscar M. Root

William Endicott, Roland B. Hammond, Mrs. Roland B. Hammond, S. Forbes Rockwell, Horace N. Stevens, Jr., Walter M. Whitehill and Mrs. Walter M. Whitehill.

The name of Stevens reaches deep into the history of North Andover. John Stevens, buried there in 1665, was the first settler. The Stevens-Coolidge farm was an original grant of land held by the Stevens family for seven generations. Today it combines the rustic charm of a New England farm with the formality and comfort of modern country living. On its 89 acres are sweeping green lawns, a formal rose garden, a French herb garden, a vegetable garden and ornamental trees, hedges and a brick serpentine wall. The rest of the land is rolling hayfield and a hardwood forest of some 40 acres.

"The Home Place," or main house, is a handsome brick structure, typical of the early Federal period. It was built around 1800. The Ell is about 30 years older. Structural changes have been made to both through the years. Inside, "The Home Place" is furnished just as it was when Mrs. Coolidge lived there. It is filled with many fine examples of china, Waterford crystal and American antiques.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Mrs. Irving Woodbury continued to welcome visitors to Mrs. Coolidge's house during 1966. The total number was 158, a slight decrease over 1965. Included were 25 members of the American Heritage division of the Reading Women's Club, 20 from the New Hampshire Historical Society of Hancock, N. H., and several Girl Scout groups. Sixteen visitors said that they came to The Farm because they had heard Mr. Loring Conant's lecture on The Trustees' properties.

"Approximately 300 persons visited the grounds to view the dogwoods and large willow trees. Three studio groups from Lawrence, one of children, and two of adults, painted on the grounds during the summer.

"Among the many activities of Mr. Arthur Bradley and his helpers, was the erection of a 22-foot flag pole. Mr. Ernest R. Matthes of Methuen donated the pole, and Mrs. Woodbury gave the flag. Geraniums were planted at the base of the pole.

"Despite the dry weather, the flowers did well. Much watering was required. Only one garden could be watered at a time, however, because of inadequate pressure. The Strawflowers, planted for the first time, grew vigorously, as did the Zinnias (5 feet high), including a new variety, with green flowers.

"Mr. Bradley donated flowers for meetings of both the Andover and North Andover Garden Clubs, and produced, in the greenhouse, calla lilies and azaleas for the annual meeting of The Trustees in Milton in January, 1967.

"Several plants of hibiscus, in the rose garden, are estimated by Mr. Bradley to be probably 45 years old. One elm tree near the parking lot died from Dutch Elm disease. Mr. Nathan Bates has suggested planting willow trees to provide shade for the parking lot.

"Mr. Root made a copy of the map of the Stevens-Coolidge Farm from information in the North Andover Assessor's office.

"The resignation of Mrs. Horatio Rogers from the Local Committee was accepted with regret. Mr. S. Forbes Rockwell and Mrs. Roland B. Hammond were elected to fill vacancies. Mrs. Walter M. Whitehill was elected Secretary of the Local Committee.

"The Local Committee made recommendations to the Standing Committee for 1967 pertaining to: mowing of fields, maintenance of fences, a suitable sign at the entrance gate, a sign on the front door of the Coolidge house and revision of the description of The Farm in The Trustees' brochure."

TANTIUSQUES RESERVATION

*Sturbridge—on Leadmine Road, one mile west of Route 15, the Sturbridge-Hartford Expressway (about 55 acres).
USGS Southbridge.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Frank T. Haynes

Roger B. Chaffee, Charles J. Ciaffone, Lewis E. Howlett, Robert E. LaFontaine and Alexander J. Wall.

First discovered by the Indians, Tantiusques, a graphite or black lead mine, was granted to John Winthrop, Jr. in 1644.

The mine was worked at intervals between 1658 and 1900. Several open cuts which followed the graphite veins are still visible. There is one tunnel said to penetrate 150 feet of rock. The cuts are from 10 to 30 feet deep and four to eight feet wide, many overhung with hemlocks.

In the early part of the 19th century, history has it that a Capt. Dixon and his son were employed at the mine. The Dixons later went into business for themselves, manufacturing lead pencils which became known the world over. Around the mine there is oak and poplar and an undergrowth of laurel and ferns.

The Indians used the graphite for war paint and ceremonial occasions. Adjoining the Reservation is land owned by the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Fisheries and Game. There is a parking lot nearby and access to Leadmine Pond.

Tantiusques Reservation was given by Mr. Roger B. Chaffee in memory of Professor George H. Haynes, a teacher at Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The Tantiusque Reservation has remained in the same condition as in 1965 with no forest fires or other casualties."

TYRINGHAM COBBLE RESERVATION

Tyringham—Leave the Massachusetts Turnpike at Lee, Exit 2. Take Tyringham Road off Route 102 (222 acres). USGS Monterey.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Rustin McIntosh

Rev. Franklin L. Couch, G. James Fawcett, Arnold Hale, Walter D. Howard and Mrs. Francesca G. Palmer.

Overlooking the Tyringham Valley, south of the Town of Tyringham, the Cobble rises more than 1,300 feet. Below, to the southwest, the Appalachian Trail joins Jerusalem Road and passes Shaker Pond. Beyond, the wooded mountains of Berkshire County roll away to the horizon.

Tyringham Cobble Reservation is primarily upland pasture and woodland. It totals some 222 acres. The entrance is off Jerusalem Road, southwest of Tyringham. The Reservation is bounded on the north by Main Road. Besides its scenic beauty, the Cobble is of geologic interest.

Tyringham Cobble became the property of The Trustees of Reservations in 1963. It was given by Dr. Rustin McIntosh, Mrs. Francesca Gilder Palmer and Mr. Edward N. Perkins. A bequest of Mrs. Olivia James gives the Reservation an endowment of $20,000.

Beartown State Forest is less than two miles away in Monterey. There is another state forest in Otis, some five miles away.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"Tyringham Cobble attracted as many visitors in 1966 as in past years, perhaps more. The actual number remains conjectural, however, since it has not been feasible to keep an accurate count.

"The Local Committee recommends a repositioning of the entrance gate about 100 yards up Jerusalem Road from the original entrance. This will provide for more ample parking, will by-pass a steep grade on the foot path, and will help to separate homines sapientes from grazing cattle.

"Because of a shortage of manpower, less clearing of scrub was achieved in 1966 than had been hoped. Seedlings of various kinds, but especially of birch, poplar and white pine, tend to encroach rapidly on pasture land despite the activities of Mr. Pierce's herd of Black Angus which grazes on the Cobble with the permission of The Trustees. Plans are afoot for a more aggressive program of clearing.

"At the request of the Local Committee, the Cobble property remains unposted. Except during deer week, hunting in this area is minimal. There was trouble on one occasion when a rifleman used the steep Cobble slope as background for target-shooting. If this sort of nuisance recurs, it may prove necessary to post an appropriate warning.

"An ad hoc committee of the town of Tyringham, searching for a suitable place for a town skating rink, reached the conclusion that the best site would be on a patch of level ground between Hop Brook and the Main Road, on property which is included in the Tyringham Cobble deed, but which, because of the barrier of the brook, is for practical purposes inaccessible from the Cobble. At the town's request, relayed through the Local Committee, the Standing Committee of The Trustees graciously granted permission for such use of Trustee property, with suitable safeguards. Up to the time of drafting of this report the town has taken no action toward construction of a skating rink, presumably because the cost proved to be greater than had been anticipated."

CHARLES W. WARD RESERVATION

*Andover—on Route 125 at Prospect Road (340 acres).
USGS South Groveland, Reading.*

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman John W. Kimball

Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball, George K. Sanborn and Frederic A. Stott.

From the top of Holt Hill (450 feet), the coastal plain of eastern Massachusetts stretches out for miles. It is broken to the south by the Blue Hills, to the west by Mount Monadnock and south of Monadnock, Mount Wachusett, 40 miles away.

The highest hilltop in Essex County, Holt Hill is the principal relief feature of the Charles W. Ward Reservation in Andover. Nearby are Boston Hill (385 feet) and Scrub Hill (335 feet). The rest of the land is low and heavily wooded with Cat Swamp covering some 70 acres north of Holt Hill. The Reservation lies within the watershed of the Ipswich River which flows eastward to the Atlantic Ocean.

Several miles of hiking trails have been cut through the woods and ski slopes have been cleared, but most of the area is natural woodland. At the top of Holt Hill and near the crest of Boston Hill, are compass-like arrangements of large boulders. At the time of the vernal and autumnal equinoxes, in March and September, the sun rises directly above the easterly stone and sets above the westerly stone. At the times of the winter and summer solstices, other stones mark the exact direction of sunrise and sunset.

A forest fire lookout tower is located on Holt Hill. Nearby is a small reservoir used by the town of Andover.

The Reservation was created in 1940 when Mrs. Charles W. Ward gave 154 acres with an endowment, in memory of Mr. Ward. Subsequent gifts were made by Mr. Charles W. Ward, Jr., Mrs. Ward, Phillips Academy, Mrs. C. Carlton Kimball and Mr. Charles L. Ward.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"All the trails on the Reservation were cleared during the summer and fall of 1966. A long-abandoned trail running between the James C. Graham trail and the new ski jump was re-opened. This trail, and the trail running around the base of the north slope of Holt Hill were also cleared of large rocks and thus put in the condition necessary for competition in cross-country skiing. In addition to the work on the trails, the grass and light brush on the summit of Holt Hill was mowed for the first time in several years. The temporary installation by the Mitre Corporation of a radar antenna on the summit of Boston Hill was accomplished with a minimum of disturbance to the area.

"While it has not been possible to keep accurate figures, it seems clear that the Reservation is being used by increasing numbers of people each season. Most of these come simply for a walk or picnic. Some ride horseback on the extensive network of trails. A number of groups are using the Reservation for nature study. Training in ski jumping, cross-country running and skiing, and in the techniques of search, rescue, and survival in the woods were also carried on during the year. The increasing use of the Reservation has brought with it increased problems of littering and vandalism, but so far the situation is under fairly good control."

LOCAL COMMITTEE

Chairman Nathan W. Bates

William C. Cox, Everett W. Gammons, Hollis T. Gleason, Edward A. Mulvey and John F. Visser, Jr.

Southwest of Route 3A, opposite the end of Sohier Street in Cohasset, Whitney and Thayer Woods spread out for more than 700 acres. The land is mostly wooded, criss-crossed with bridle paths and more than 12 miles of walking trails. The ledge rock is granite, often exposed in the rounded glacial hillocks called "roches moutonnees." Glacial boulders of granite and conglomerate, slate and basalt are scattered through the woodlands. One, some 15 feet in diameter, called the Bigelow Boulder, is perched on a ledge at the side of Boulder Lane.

Wild flowers are everywhere. On Milliken Memorial Path, rhododendrons and azaleas bloom among the rocks. The Bancroft Bird and Flower Sanctuary, about 27 acres including a pond, is adjacent to Whitney Woods.

Turkey Hill (187 feet) at the northwest end of the Reservation, one of the highest drumlins in Norfolk and Plymouth counties, looks out over Cohasset Harbor, Minot's Light, and the broad Atlantic. At the entrance of the Reservation there are picnic tables for visitors.

More than 2,800 acres of adjoining land, the former Naval Ammunition Depot in Hingham, was purchased in 1966 by the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources. The department has agreed to allow The Trustees the use of Milliken Memorial Path now on state property. The fence will remain. Route 128 in Hingham is scheduled to be relocated. It seems likely that the new road will come close to the west side of the Reservation near James Lane.

Whitney and Thayer Woods Reservation was first created in 1933 with a gift of 643 acres and an endowment of $10,000 from Whitney Woods Association. In 1935, Bancroft Sanctuary, 25 acres, was given by the Federation of Bird Clubs of New England. Mrs. Hugh Bancroft gave 20 acres in 1937. Mr. Charles B. Barnes and family gave 10 acres in 1941. In 1943, Mrs. Ezra Thayer gave 28 acres in Hingham. Mr. Joseph Sapanaro gave eight acres in 1950. From 1944 to 1961, 184 acres were purchased. For military reasons, the Federal government has taken 135 acres. In 1965 and 1966, Mrs. Kenneth L. Ketchum gave 11.7 acres.

ACT OF ESTABLISHMENT

Chapter 352, Acts of 1891 Massachusetts General Court

SECTION 1. Frederick L. Ames, Philip A. Chase, Christopher Clarke, Charles R. Codman, Elisha S. Converse, George F. Hoar, John J. Russell, Leverett Saltonstall, Charles S. Sargent, Nathaniel S. Shaler, George Sheldon, William S. Shurtleff, George H. Tucker, Francis A. Walker, George Wigglesworth, their associates and successors, are hereby made a corporation by the name of THE TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC RESERVATIONS*, for the purpose of acquiring, holding, arranging, maintaining, and opening to the public, under suitable regulations, beautiful and historical places and tracts of land within this Commonwealth, with the powers and privileges and subject to the duties set forth in chapter one hundred and fifteen of the Public Statutes and in such other general laws as now are or hereafter may be in force relating to such corporations; but said corporation shall have no capital stock.

SECTION 2. Said corporation may acquire and hold by grant, gift, devise, purchase, or otherwise, real estate such as it may deem worthy of preservation for the enjoyment of the public, but not exceeding one million dollars in value, and such other property, both real and personal, as may be necessary or proper to support or promote the objects of the corporation, but not exceeding in the aggregate the further sum of one million dollars.[†]

SECTION 3. All personal property held by said corporation, and all lands which it may cause to be opened and kept open to the public, and all lands which it may acquire and hold with this object in view, shall be exempt from taxation, in the same manner and to the same extent as the property of literary, benevolent, charitable, and scientific institutions incorporated within this Commonwealth is now exempt by law; but no lands so acquired and held and not open to the public shall be so exempt from taxation for a longer period than two years. Said corporation shall never make any division or dividend of or from its property or income among its members.

SECTION 4. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

*The name THE TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC RESERVATIONS was changed to THE TRUSTEES OF RESERVATIONS by vote of the Corporation at its meeting on January 20, 1954. Name changed by Act of Legislature on February 4, 1954.

†In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 289, Acts of the General Court 1963, The Trustees may hold both real and personal property to the amount not exceeding in the aggregate $10,000,000.

BY-LAWS*

ARTICLE I

OF TRUSTEES

1. The members of the corporation, in whom are reposed the full and exclusive duty and power to vote in respect of all matters to be acted upon at any meeting of the corporation, shall be designated "Trustees." The number of Trustees shall not exceed one hundred fifty, nor shall it be less than one hundred, and they shall be elected by the corporation for such term as the corporation shall determine.

2. The Standing Committee may, if it sees fit, nominate Trustees by inserting the names of candidates in the notice of any meeting of the corporation and may designate the terms for which such candidates are so nominated.

3. An election of Trustees may take place at any annual meeting, or at any special meeting if notice thereof is contained in the notice of the meeting, and any person who receives the votes of two-thirds of the Trustees present and voting shall, on his acceptance of his election, be declared and enrolled a Trustee of the corporation. Any Trustee may resign by written notice, signed by the Trustee and delivered to the Secretary or to another officer of the corporation.

ARTICLE II

OF FOUNDERS AND OTHER CONTRIBUTORS

1. All persons from whom the corporation shall receive real or personal property to the value of one thousand dollars or more shall be permanently enrolled as Founders.

2. All other persons who contribute real or personal property to the corporation shall be enrolled in such categories of membership and for such terms as the Standing Committee may from time to time determine.

3. But no donor of money or property shall be a member of the corporation unless and until duly elected as provided in Article I. Notwithstanding that such donors shall not be subject to any duty or responsibility in the management or affairs of the corporation, they may, if convened in a meeting at the direction of the Standing Committee, take advisory action and make recommendations in respect of any matter submitted to such meeting. At any such meeting each person shall be entitled to one vote to be cast in person or by proxy.

ARTICLE III

OF MEETINGS OF THE CORPORATION

1. The annual meeting of the corporation shall be held on the last Wednesday in January, in Boston, or at such other city or town in the Commonwealth, and at such time and place, as the Standing Committee may determine.

In the event the annual meeting is not called and held as herein prescribed, the Standing Committee shall order a special meeting to be called and held in lieu of and for the purposes of the annual meeting, and all references in the By-Laws to the annual meeting shall be deemed to refer also to a special meeting called in lieu of and for the purposes of the annual meeting. Special meetings of the corporation may be called by the Standing Committee to meet at any time and at any place within the Commonwealth. Notice of any meeting of the corporation shall be given at least seven days before the date of the meeting by mailing postpaid to each member of the corporation at his address of record last appearing on the books of the corporation a notice thereof and, if a special meeting, a statement of the purposes for which the meeting is called.

*As amended January 30, 1963

2. A quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the corporation shall consist of not less than seven members, but a majority of the members present and voting may adjourn any meeting from time to time until the business shall have been finished.

3. Officers and members of the Standing Committee shall be elected by ballot. Any other action to be taken by members of the corporation may be taken by voice vote unless a member requests a written ballot in which case a ballot shall be taken.

4. At all meetings of the corporation the President shall take the chair as soon as a quorum is present; and the record of the preceding meeting shall then be read, unless such reading is dispensed with by the unanimous consent of those present.

5. At the annual meeting of the corporation the order of business shall be as follows:

First. The unfinished business and the assignments of the last meeting shall be announced by the Secretary to the President and taken up in order.

Second. The Secretary shall be called on to submit a written report of the doings of the Standing Committee for the previous fiscal year.

Third. The Treasurer shall be called upon to submit a written report of his doings for the previous fiscal year and of the financial condition of the corporation as of the close of the previous fiscal year.

Fourth. The Committee to audit the Treasurer's accounts shall be called on for a report.

Fifth. Any special committee which may have been appointed during the year shall be called on to report.

Sixth. If the Standing Committee shall have proposed changes in the By-Laws, or if changes in the By-Laws have been proposed by a Trustee, the same shall be voted upon.

Seventh. If the Standing Committee shall have made any nominations to membership in the corporation, or if such nominations are made by a Trustee, an election shall be held.

Eighth. An election of officers and members of the Standing Committee shall be held, if there are terms which have expired or vacancies to be filled.

Ninth. The President shall give the members present an opportunity to present new business.

Tenth. The President shall appoint a committee to audit the Treasurer's accounts.

ARTICLE IV

OF OFFICERS

1. The officers of the corporation shall be a President, one or more Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, and a Treasurer. The officers shall be chosen by ballot by the members of the corporation at an annual meeting and they shall hold their offices for three years, or for such shorter term as the corporation at its annual meeting shall determine, and until others are duly chosen and qualified in their stead. Except in the case of the Secretary, an officer may not serve more than six consecutive years in the same office, but may serve again in the same office after an interval of one year. The Standing Committee may elect or appoint such other officers of the corporation as it may from time to time determine, including, but not limited to, one or more assistant secretaries and one or more assistant treasurers, and any such officers appointed by the Standing Committee shall serve for such terms and shall have such powers and duties as the Standing Committee may from time to time prescribe.

2. The President shall preside at all meetings of the corporation. If he is absent a Vice-President in order of seniority, and, if no Vice-President is present, a President pro tempore, chosen by hand vote of the members of the corporation present, shall preside.

3. The Secretary, who shall be a resident of the Commonwealth, shall warn the members of all meetings of the corporation, according as he may be directed by vote of the Standing Committee. He shall call the meetings of the Standing Committee as he may be directed by the chairman of the Committee or on the request in writing of any two members thereof. He shall keep an exact record of all meetings of the corporation and of the Standing Committee, with the names of the members present, entering in full all reports of committees which may be accepted by either body, unless otherwise directed.

4. The Treasurer shall keep regular and faithful account of all the moneys and funds of the corporation which shall come into his hands and of all receipts and expenditures connected with the same, which accounts shall always be open to the inspection of members of the corporation. He shall make no investments and pay no moneys without either the approval of a majority of the Standing Committee or of such officer, agent or committee as said Standing Committee shall appoint to act for it in these matters and in accordance with such procedures as the Standing Committee may establish.

ARTICLE V

OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE

1. The Standing Committee shall consist of fourteen persons, including the President, the Treasurer and the Secretary who shall be members of the Standing Committee, ex officio. The members of the Standing Committee, other than the members ex officio, shall be chosen by ballot by the members of the corporation at an annual meeting. The elected members of the Standing Committee shall be divided into three classes, one of which shall consist of three members and two of which shall each consist of four members. One class shall be elected at each annual meeting of the corporation and shall hold office for a term of three years and until others are duly chosen and qualified in their stead. A member of the Standing Committee may not serve more than two consecutive three year terms as an elected member but may serve again as an elected member of the Standing Committee after an interval of one year.

2. The Standing Committee shall, at the first meeting after the annual meeting of the corporation in each year, elect a chairman, whose duty it shall be to preside at all meetings of the Committee. In his absence a chairman pro tempore may be chosen by hand vote. The Standing Committee shall meet at least once in every month, and a quorum shall consist of not less than three members.

3. The Standing Committee may fill any vacancy in any of the offices of the corporation or in its own membership until the next annual meeting of the corporation, may nominate or refuse to nominate new members of the corporation, may accept or decline gifts offered to the corporation, may establish a fiscal year for the corporation, may approve or disapprove investments or expenditures, may approve or disapprove all bills against the corporation, may declare any office, including the office of a member of the Standing Committee, vacant if the Standing Committee by affirmative vote of two-thirds of its members so determines, may make such arrangements for the holding and conduct of its meetings and notice thereof as it may determine, may appoint subcommittees of its members, or committees consisting of members or other persons not members, may appoint and remove agents, may engage whatever assistance is needed to administer the affairs of the corporation, may designate such agents and employees by such titles as they may deem proper, and, in general, may exercise all the powers of a board of directors and all the executive powers of the corporation.

4. Any officer of the corporation shall be entitled to attend all meetings of the Standing Committee but without vote unless he is a member of the Standing Committee as above provided.

ARTICLE VI

OF THE ADVISORY COUNCIL

All persons who have served as officers or as members of the Standing Committee shall become eligible for election to the Advisory Council from the conclusion of their terms. Members of the Advisory Council shall be chosen at the annual meeting of the corporation, and they shall hold their offices for such term as the corporation shall determine. The members of the Advisory Council shall be entitled to attend all meetings of the Standing Committee but without vote

ARTICLE VII

OF THE SEAL

The corporate seal shall be a circular, flat-faced die of about an inch and a half in diameter, with the name of the corporation, the year of its organization, the word "Massachusetts" and the figure of a pine tree so engraved on its face that it can be embossed on paper by pressure.

ARTICLE VIII

OF AMENDMENTS

These By-Laws may be amended, altered, or repealed at any meeting of the corporation by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting, provided that notice of such proposed change shall have been given in the call of the meeting

MR. RICHARD L. FROTHINGHAM, Treasurer
THE TRUSTEES OF RESERVATIONS
Boston, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Frothingham:

I have examined the Balance Sheet of THE TRUSTEES OF RESERVATIONS as of October 31, 1966 and the related Statements of Income and Expense and Changes in Funds for the year then ended. My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and included such tests of the accounting records and other auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion the accompanying Balance Sheet and Statements in support thereof present fairly the financial position of THE TRUSTEES OF RESERVATIONS at October 31, 1966 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles consistent with that of the preceding year.
